Big Guns Blast Navy Base at Leningrad.

BERLIN, Sept. 29 [Monday] (AP).—German reports said today that Kronstadt, the island naval base guarding the sea approach to Leningrad, was being shelled by German big guns, and declared that troops which won the great encirclement battle of Kiev were on the march again.

A dispatch by DNB, the official news agency, said German troops east of Kiev had gone ahead so fast that a single German division captured 20,000 prisoners in 24 hours.

The Germans were pictured as mopping up scattered Russian units. All Russian troops were said to have been cleared from the narrow peninsula that juts into the Black sea south of Ochakov, 30 miles east of Odessa. Bombers raided Kharkov, Moscow, and the upper reaches of the Volga river.

[At Bucharest it was reported that German attacks upon Kharkov and the rail center of Bryansk already are in progress on a broad front. Poltava, 190 miles southeast of Kiev, was mentioned as the starting point of one advancing Nazi column.]

Seeks Out Remnants of Fleet.

In the Baltic fighting German dive bombers were said to be seeking out remnants of the soviet Baltic fleet.

The high command said German big guns had brought warships in Kronstadt harbor and the coastal area south of it "under effective fire." One Russian cruiser was said to have been set afire by the cannonade and a battleship near Kronstadt was said to have been hit by heavy bombs.

The German guns were believed to be mounted somewhere in the vicinity of Oranienbaum, on the mainland seven miles across the mouth of the Neva river from Kronstadt and about 18 miles from Leningrad. At Oranienbaum they would command the only channel leading to Leningrad navigable for large ships.

Machine Gun Small Boats.

To the east of Leningrad, near the shores of Lake Ladoga, a Russian counterattack was reported. The Germans said the attack was "spirited" and that the Russians fought heroically but made no headway.

Eight small boats trying to land Russian soldiers to aid in the attack were said to have been met by fierce machine gun fire from the shore. One was reported set afire.

In recent hours German bombers and attack planes sweeping over Lake Ladoga have sunk 15 small boats, two transports, two gunboats, and one tug, dispatches from air force bases said.

SINK FIVE NAZI VESSELS

MOSCOW, Sept. 29, Monday (AP).—Five German ships, including a cruiser, a destroyer, two transports, and a tanker, have been sunk and two more destroyers damaged by soviet naval forces and shore batteries in farflung engagements in the Arctic, Baltic, and Black seas, a soviet communique announced early today.

These officially reported successes at sea were coupled with accounts from the land front that the Red army had captured 10 more villages in a drive from Yelnya toward Smolensk in the sector 200 miles west of Moscow, and that Nazi siege forces around Leningrad were hurled from three lines of trenches by Red army counterattacks.

Hit by Coastal Batteries.

The cruiser and destroyer were sunk and the other destroyers heavily damaged by soviet coastal batteries and warships in the Baltic sea. The two transports of 8,000 and 4,000 tons were sent to the bottom by the Red northern fleet somewhere in arctic waters and the tanker, of 1,000 tons, was sunk in the Black sea, it added.

The soviet bureau of information said heavy blows by the Red army had forced the Germans to fall back from strong positions in the central sector.

Russian forces were said to have advanced along a six mile front and crossed the Desna river at one point. In another sector of this front the 458th regiment of the 256th German infantry division was reported routed and two villages recaptured by Red forces.

In the last week of fighting 18 German companies were reported destroyed in a single zone of that front and the Germans were said to have left on the battle field 2,300 dead and numerous tanks and guns.

TREASON PLOT CHARGED; CIVIL SIEGE ORDERED

New Protector Acts to End Hostility.

BULLETIN.

New York, Sept. 29 (Monday) (AP).—The British radio said tonight that Czech resentment at the imposition of a state of emergency in the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia had resulted in an unsuccessful attempt to kill Prof. Bela Tuka, premier of Slovakia.

BERLIN, Sept. 28 (AP).—Czech Premier Gen. Alois Elias was arrested today on a charge of "preparation for high treason" and a state of civil emergency was decreed for six districts in the German protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia because of "a number of actions hostile to the reich."

Gen. Alois Elias.

Deputy Reich's Protector Reinhard Heydrich, hard hitting right hand man of German Police Chief Heinrich Himmler, ordered the state of emergency. He acted within 24 hours after formally relieving 68 year old Baron Konstantin von Neurath. Von Neurath was said to have requested a leave because of failing health.

Districts covered by the emergency order are Prague, Brunn, Maehrisch-Ostrau, Kladno, Koeniggratz, and Olmuetz. These districts are the most populous part of the protectorate.

Gets Coöperation Pledge.

Heydrich told President Dr. Emil Hacha "irresponsible elements in the pay of enemies of Europe" committed the hostile acts, which he did not explain. Heydrich received from Hacha a pledge of coöperation on the part of the protectorate officials and issued a statement saying "It is expected of the population, which in majority recognizes as a fact the common destiny of the European peoples with Germany, that it will not permit itself in any way to be provoked by enemies of the reich."

Passive resistance of the Czechs has frequently been a source of trouble to the Germans since Adolf Hitler dismembered the republic 2½ years ago. Increasing property confiscations have reflected unrest recently.

Summary Executions Likely.

A state of emergency is the civil equivalent of martial law. It usually includes a curfew, closing of theaters and other public gathering places, summary executions, exceptionally heavy prison terms and confiscation of property for acts regarded as offenses against security of the state.

The Germans on Sept. 10 ordered a state of civil emergency in Norway to halt the spread of strikes and sabotage. There, too, the drastic step was taken shortly after Heydrich returned from conferring with Oslo police.

Faces "People's Court" Trial.

Premier Elias, who is to be tried by a "People's court," was trained in the Austrian-Hungarian army, entered the Czech army after the World war and rose rapidly in the government after Munich.

Just before the German occupation of Czecho-Slovakia in March, 1939, Elias directed military measures against Slovakia when it declared its independence. He became premier and minister of interior in 1939.

Claim Arms Output Halved.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Czech government authorities in London said today that increasing sabotage and "go slow" strikes in former Czecho-Slovakia had reduced the output of arms factories, including the great Skoda works, as much as 50 per cent, blown up a number of German troop trains, and disorganized transportation.

Peasants were said to be burning granaries in night riding raids and then forming for angry hunger marches by day.

A secret Czech radio station called "the station for national liberation" broadcasts nightly. The announcer declared in the broadcast heard in London tonight that Reinhard Heydrich, newly appointed German deputy protector, was "the bloodiest man of all the bloody Nazis."

"Czech people!" he cried. "Heydrich was sent to provoke you to open revolt and to drive all Czechs to their knees, but the unity of the Czech people will frustrate the Nazi plan."

Stalin Greets U. S., British Aid Missions

MOSCOW, Sept. 28 (AP).—American and British missions arrived today for three-power conferences on aid to Russia and their respective chiefs, W. Averell Harriman and Lord Beaverbrook, were received quickly by Premier Josef Stalin.

Vyacheslav Molotov, head of the soviet delegation, and Maxim Litvinov, another soviet member, joined the talks at the Kremlin.

Stalin received them in his capacity as chairman of the council of people's commissars.

As the missions arrived it was disclosed that supplies of American planes, aviation gasoline and lubricants already are reaching Russia.

Long Term Aid Planned.

The conferences are designed to plan immediate and long term aid to Russia. Stalin's quick reception for the chief delegates emphasized the importance with which the Kremlin views the talks, which are expected to last a week.

Harriman said he hoped the conferees would get down to work immediately. He stressed the "immense importance" of the issues involved and "the absolute necessity for speed."

Constantine Oumansky, soviet ambassador to Washington, D. C., who reached Moscow yesterday, was among the officials who welcomed the Americans and Britons. Also on hand were representatives of the foreign commissariat and the Red army, navy, and air force, and the staffs of the British and American embassies. Flags of the three nations fluttered and a band played their national anthems.

Beaverbrook Entertains.

Lord Beaverbrook, who is Britain's supply minister, gave a dinner tonight for the American and British delegations at the British embassy.

Maj. Philip R. Faymonville, Russian-speaking secretary of the mission and former United States military attaché in Moscow, intends to remain with several other experts after the conferences end.

The American mission, numbering 23, includes Maj. Gen. James Chaney, Maj. Gen. James H. Burns, Admiral William H. Standley, and William L. Batt.

NON-MEMBER, 66, SETS PACE FOR PRAIRIE CLUB ON HIKE OF 26 MILES

Possibly enlivened by the appearance of a nonmember who, altho 66 years old, outwalked them all, 57 members of the Prairie club yesterday completed a 26 mile hike around Lake Geneva without one dropping out short of the goal. Officials said it was the first time that all had completed so long a hike.

J. L. Stern, 2004 Lincoln Park West, a salesman, was the nonmember. He said that he had walked part of the way from his home to the Howard street entrainment point. Near the end of the hike he excused himself and briskly walked on ahead to finish with a lead of half a mile.

"For years I've been walking from 20 to 40 miles every Sunday," Stern told the admiring club members. "Often I walk out to race tracks and return the same way. I find it beneficial."

Members said they previously had heard only of people walking home from the horse tracks.

URGE BRITAIN TO SEEK TRUCE IN NIGHT BOMBINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Two periodicals today suggested that Britain seek an agreement with Germany to abolish night bombings. The time is ripe, they said, because British spokesmen have declared that the royal air force is finally in a position to bomb cities as effectively as the Nazis do.

"Now that we are gaining the means to exceed their own cruelties to the civil population," said Christendom, "why not place the Nazis in such a position that they must either accept our ruling or be judged guilty of useless cruelty by their own people?"

The New English Weekly, which also urged a night bombing truce, said most of the evidence was against a theory that unlimited bombing would shorten the war because the "Germans can't take it."

Problem: How to Collect Slot Machine Tax!

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Plans for the collection of taxes from Cook county slot machine operators may become clearer today on receipt of information from Washington, D. C., Daniel J. Conerty, agent in charge of the federal bureau of internal revenue field service, said yesterday. The tax—$50 a year on each machine—becomes effective Wednesday.

President Bertram J. Cahn of the Chicago Crime commission last week said there were thousands of the machines operating in Cook county, outside Chicago's city limits. Regardless of their illegality, each of the coin snatchers is expected to do its part in building up federal funds, Conerty said.

Defeat Purpose of Law.

"If a tavern owner is required to display his slot machine tax receipt on the wall, the local law enforcement officer would thereby be given notice that the illegal machine is being operated," Conerty explained. "Such a requirement would defeat the purpose of the law—unless the purpose of the law was to put the slot machines out of business.

"If, on the other hand, the tax receipt is to be displayed on the machine itself, a stamp of some kind would be supplied and arrangements would have to be made to permit the transfer of the stamp if the machine is replaced any time during the year. If a person operates only one machine at a time he would only have to pay one tax, even tho he changed machines many times during the year."

Tax on Property Owner.

Thus, it was explained, the owners of premises on which slot machines were maintained would be protected against an additional federal tax if any machines were lost to raiders, county highway police, village authorities, or state police.

The wording of the federal law places the tax on the property owner—not on the syndicate members who take 60 per cent of the slot machine's income. Tavern owners expressed the opinion that Edward Vogel, spokesman for the syndicate which is headed by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, would pay the tax for them.

War in Bayous Ends Without Major Battle

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shreveport, La., Sept. 28.—The largest war games in the history of the United States army, in which more than 400,000 troops of the 2d and 3d armies participated, ended in an "armistice" late today without a major engagement being fought.

In the closing phase of the maneuvers, Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear's 2d [Red] army, acting as defenders, turned back the 3d [Blue] army's attempt to capture Shreveport, a city of 100,000 in the northwest corner of Louisiana.

With the announcement of the "armistice," factory whistles and church bells in the "besieged" city sounded loudly and soldiers fired their remaining blank cartridges to celebrate.

No Blitz Develops.

A policy of great caution was followed by both sides in the "battle of Shreveport." Altho cavalry patrol and mechanized scouting parties had numerous brushes between the lines, no lightning thrusts or simulated blitzkrieg operations developed. As a result, the widely anticipated free-for-all between the armored divisions of the two armies failed to materialize.

An attacking armored unit, under command of Maj. Gen. George Patton, made a wide circle to the west, off the prescribed maneuver area, in an effort to strike in the rear and flank defending Red army forces. These troops reached the gates of Shreveport on the north only to find themselves hopelessly bogged down by a bayou a short distance from Gen. Lear's headquarters.

The main body of the Blue army, which meanwhile was advancing very slowly from the south, was the target of load after load of simulated bombs from planes of the Red army. However, umpires assessed few losses, and the Blues continued to advance after brief delays.

Sunday Show in Shreveport.

Besieged Shreveport was the object of constant "bombing" thruout the day, and the answering chatter of machine gun fire broke the usual Sunday calm of the city's business district.

The Red army's 1st armored division, under command of Maj. Gen. Bruce Magruder, was held in reserve. However, these forces put on a good show for the citizens of Shreveport this afternoon when scores of tanks dashed around the city's streets.

The advance of the 3d army to the outskirts of Shreveport was as unlike actual warfare as were the Sunday crowds of curious townspeople who lined the sidewalks and bayou shores to watch the show. To keep the war from bogging down, umpires declared "destroyed" bridges repaired in a few minutes and permitted tank columns to proceed across them.

As a matter of fact, impassible bayous over which the 2d army had theoretically blown up all crossings formed a natural barrier which, under actual war conditions, would have required a vast force to span at any point.

Six Soldiers Killed.

Shreveport, La., Sept. 28 (AP).—The bodies of six soldiers, including two who were electrocuted by a live wire, were received at a local funeral home during the last 24 hours of war maneuvers which ended late today.

Sergt. Raymond I. Paradis, 34, Yakima, Wash., and Private Forest Swilley, 20, Gulfport, Miss., were burned fatally when the truck behind their "peep" struck the guy wire of a telephone pole which caused two poles to fall, dropping a live wire on the two men. Both men were with the 68th armored regiment of the 2d armored division.

Killed in traffic accidents were: Private Robert T. Lathrop, Peru, Ill., 131st infantry; Private John Krause, Detroit, Mich., 177th field artillery; Private Hubert B. Tweedy, a native of Missouri, and an unidentified private.

Planes Over Switzerland Hint Air Smash at Italy

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 29 [Monday] (AP).—A Swiss communique today said many waves of foreign planes flew over western Switzerland last night, indicating heavy new British raids on Italy. The planes went south about 11 o'clock and returned at midnight. Swiss guns fired on them.

ROBBERS SHOOT MARION MILEY, WOUND MOTHER

Home Is Invaded by Masked Gunmen.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 28 [Special].—Miss Marion Miley, nationally prominent golf star, was shot and killed by robbers early today in her apartment at the exclusive Lexington Country club, where she was a professional. Her mother, Mrs. Fred Miley, manager of the club, also was shot and is in a serious condition in St. Joseph's hospital. The robbers' loot was $145.

Tonight Kentucky state, Fayette county, and Lexington city police were searching for the killers thruout the entire blue grass region and also keeping an eye on possible avenues of escape in the nearby hills.

Determined to Get Slayers.

"All Lexington is horrified by the murder," said Chief J. W. McCord, of the county police. "We're determined to catch the murderers, and to show them how fast Kentucky justice works."

Miss Miley was 27 years old and a proved topflight golfer in women's events. Only last month she finished near the top in the Women's Western Open tournament at the Exmoor Country club, Highland Park, Ill. She was a former winner of that event.

At least two men were involved in the killing. Both were masked. Descriptions of them, police admitted, were so inadequate as to be almost useless. One was depicted as tall, the other shorter and heavier. Only one, so far as can be learned, was armed, and obviously, police said, he shot both Miss Miley and her mother.

Shot in Back and Head.

Miss Miley was shot twice, once in the back and once in the head. Her mother was shot three times, all bullets striking her in the abdomen.

The time of the shooting was fixed by police at between 3:30 and 4:30 a. m. As the killers entered the clubhouse, a beautiful white structure on the edge of the golf grounds, on highway 27, two miles north of Lexington, Miss Miley and her mother were sleeping in separate rooms on the second floor.

Only a few hours earlier the regular Saturday night dance had ended. The dance was attended by about 150 men and women, including numerous figures well known in the civic, professional, and political life of the Lexington area.

Places Money in Closet.

"Home Sweet Home," signaling the end of the dance, was played at 1 a. m. Mrs. Miley, as club manager, collected the night's receipts, amounting to $145, put them into three small bags, and then went upstairs to the apartment, accompanied by her golf star daughter. Mrs. Miley tucked the money bags away in a closet shelf corner.

The Mileys retired about 2 a. m. All lights in the building were out. Some time after 3:30 a. m., Mrs. Miley was awakened by some one prowling in her room. She saw two shadowy figures. She could make out a gun in the hands of one of the men.

"Be quiet," warned one of the intruders. Mrs. Miley said nothing. The other stepped forward.

"Where's the money?" he demanded gruffly.

"Over there," replied Mrs. Miley, pointing to the closet.

Strikes Mrs. Miley in Face.

Nothing more was said, but without provocation one of the men suddenly punched Mrs. Miley in the face and knocked her down. The other kicked her. She screamed and struggled to get off the floor. At that the man with the gun fired three shots at close range, and Mrs. Miley, who had half-risen, sank moaning to the floor.

The shots and screams had aroused Mrs. Miley and she came running thru the door of her mother's bedroom from her room. The same gunman wheeled and fired a shot which struck the golfer in the head. As she spun around in falling he fired another shot, which entered her back. She fell beside her mother.

The bandits hastily searched the closet, took the money bags, and

With the ease of a motorist steering his automobile down a traffic-free highway, 12 of the state's best truck drivers guided their massive machines thru a series of spectacular parking and driving obstacles on the parking lot south of Soldiers' field yesterday.

A crowd of about 1,000 shivering spectators watched the finalists maneuver six-ton semi-trailer and straight trucks into unbelievably small areas without brushing a fender.

After three hours of competition Ellahan Nussman of Peoria and Luton Needham of Springfield were crowned state champions and became eligible to enter the national meet in New York City next month.

Nussman, who is 26 years old and a driver for the Decatur Cartage company, took first place in the six-ton semi-trailer division, and Needham, 31 years old and a driver for the Prairie State Motor Freight company, first in the straight truck competition.

No Accidents in 300,000 Miles.

Neither has had an accident in the last four years, Nussman driving 400,000 miles and Needham, 800,000.

The "roadeo," sponsored annually by the Central Motor Freight association, puts the drivers thru two days of exhaustive tests.

Thirty-four of the state's 217,000 truck drivers, chosen in regional elimination contests, were on hand for the opening of the roadeo Saturday morning. Only 12 were left by Saturday night after preliminary driving tests and oral examinations in interestate traffic regulations, safety measures, first aid, and traffic courtesy.

The final event taxed the skill of even the most experienced truck drivers. With only six inches clearance on either side they raced the huge semi-trailers between a series of markers, backed into a space only two feet wider than the trucks, pulled out and sped the machines in reverse around a pylon.

Extinguish Auto Blaze.

But this was only the beginning. They had to maneuver the semi-trailers to a seven foot long loading platform laid out perpendicular to the driveway. Most of them did the job in less than one minute.

Continuing the test, the drivers stopped alongside a fire which represented a burning automobile. They jumped from the cab, placed red flags 100 feet away in both directions, extinguished the flames, picked up the flags and completed the test by driving thru another narrow passage.

Last year's state semi-trailer champion, Charles Zimmerman of 4043 South Richmond street, went on to win the national title at New York. He did not participate in yesterday's contest.

STEAL SUPPLIES FROM BAKERY.

Burglars broke into the Mary Anna Pastry shop at 3323 East 71st street last night, and stole 20 pounds of butter, 10 dozen eggs, and 40 pounds of shortening, all valued at $20.

escaped. Mrs. Miley screamed after them, then dragged herself to the telephone. It was dead. Investigation revealed that the killers had cut all telephone wires to the clubhouse.

Despite her three wounds, Mrs. Miley, barefoot and attired only in a nightgown, half ran and half walked, and sometimes crawled to the nearest help—the Ben Mar sanitarium 200 yards away. Police were quickly summoned.

Dies on Way to Hospital.

The two wounded women were placed in an automobile and speeded to St. Joseph's hospital here. Miss Miley died on the way. An emergency operation was performed later on Mrs. Miley in an effort to save her life. Late tonight she was given less than an even chance to recover.

Chief McCord said that the killers undoubtedly were robbers and that they probably had expected to make a big haul in dance receipts. From their accent, he said, the men are believed to be white. How they entered the clubhouse—either thru a door or a window—is not yet known, he said. That they are calloused veterans in crime was indicated, Chief McCord said, by their preparations in cutting telephone wires and in getting the loot after shooting the two women.

The murder of Miss Miley was flashed to golf clubs thruout the country. She was a well liked player. She was often called poker-faced because she was so cool under competitive pressure. For the last 10 years she had ranked among the top women players.

It was under fire that she often showed her courage and skill. She gave a prime example of that trait last month in the Exmoor tournament. In one of her early matches she was three down with only four holes to play. Yet she rallied to win all four—the last with a 20 foot putt. In that tournament she lost in the semi-finals to Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, Neb., the ultimate champion. A week later she beat Mrs. Mann in the Women's National at Brookline, Mass. In her career, Miss Miley had won the women's Western Open, the Western Derby, and the Trans-Mississippi championships. Her father, Fred Miley, lives in Cincinnati, O.

H. G. WELLS ASKS NEW WORLD WIDE ORDER AFTER WAR

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—H. G. Wells, British author and historian, proposed today to world science leaders an international language, federal control of all natural resources and sweeping social and economic reforms for the postwar world.

H. G. Wells.

The creator of the fictional "Invisible Man" and the Martian invasion told the British Association for Advancement of Science "if there is to be any peace on earth henceforth there must be federal control of the air and the material of international transport."

"Next," he said, "we have to rescue our planet from devastation by ruthless political and mercenary appropriation. . . ."

He said this could be done by adopting a plan of Gifford Pinchot, former governor of Pennsylvania and ardent conservationist, for federal conservation of the world's resources.

"Thirdly," Wells said, "we have to impose as the fundamental law upon earth a plain declaration of human rights that will insure for every man fair participation in these resources and a sense of responsible ownership in our planet."

British Embassy Attache's Kidnaped Wife Returned

PEIPING, China, Sept. 28 (AP).—The British embassy announced today Mrs. Denzil Clark, Japanese-born wife of a British press attaché, had been handed over to British officials at the Japanese embassy after being held for a week by Japanese extremists who abducted her. She was reported suffering from nervous shock but said she had been treated well.

DO YOU DRESS LIKE YOU MEAN BUSINESS?

A lot of fellows are apt to overlook the fact that the smartest, most pleasant-to-wear clothing planned for their more casual activities, has no place at business. Somehow that free and easy look in clothing for lighter moments gives a very wrong impression when worn to work. That's why worsted suits worn with appropriate accessories are the choice of most men who mean business when they get dressed.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

HIS POLITENESS STANDS SEVERE TEST; WINS $20

Flood of Questions Fails to Upset Conductor.

[While Chicago observes Courtesy week, THE TRIBUNE is conducting a search for genuine courtesy among public employes. Today's winner is the second to receive THE TRIBUNE $20 award.]

BY MARCIA WINN.

John H. Meyers, a street car conductor who after 37 years' subjection to the vagaries of passengers, the weather, and his feet, still retains a beautiful and imperturbable courtesy, today receives THE TRIBUNE'S second $20 courtesy award.

Meyers, a gray haired grandfather of 58 who goes to work at 5:09 a. m. every day on car No. 99 of the Grand avenue-Jarlem line of the Chicago Surface Lines, is a shining example of exquisite courtesy. On his busy route, cleaving Chicago from Lake Michigan to the fringe of Oak Park, he dispenses good will as freely as he does transfers.

Meyers lives at 2645 North Newcastle avenue, has four children, four step children and eleven grand children, and to this large family attributes what he knows of the art of consideration. "When we get the whole gang together," he said, "we have to watch what we do."

Travels 9 Miles on One Car.

In search of the winner of today's award, a Tribune reporter traversed a wide cross-section of Chicago's vast network of street car lines. At one point she traveled nine miles on one car, from Chicago and Ashland avenues to 69th street and Ashland, in pursuit of the elusive quality.

The central figure in this futile pursuit was a withered little man of around 70 who, standing on a safety island at Chicago avenue, was hidden beneath two immense floral wreaths, each wrapped in green paper, four feet in diameter and fastened to a tripod stand. Who would give him the help he needed?

Not the conductor of the street car he boarded. The conductor was burly and bluff, but the little man struggled on alone. Then he began to cart his flowers, each piece separately, to a front seat. He lurched clumsily, but no passenger steadied him.

Almost an hour passed, as the stockyard scents came and went and the city flattened out into green prairie. At last he arose. He tugged at one wreath and looked about for assistance with the other. None came. Clutching one with each hand, he stumbled to the front platform. He looked toward the motorman, and the motorman looked at him, and the motorman's only act was the manipulation of his vocal chords as he said:

"Easy, boy. Take it easy."

Helps Man on Crutches.

However, there were many candidates for today's award. A young conductor on the Western avenue line almost won it when he steadied a man on crutches and then jumped off the car to assist the cripple into the street.

A pink faced conductor on the Milwaukee line almost won it when he gave the Tribune reporter detailed instructions on how to reach the Museum of Science and Industry from the northwest side. Later, when she feigned illness, he suggested she get off and stop in the restroom of a corner drugstore.

So did a young conductor on the Ashland-Archer line who caroled merrily to patrons as they boarded his car. He directed the reporter to the Chicago Historical society, to the Field museum and finally told her where she could get her shoes repaired between street cars.

Some First Class Directions.

But Meyers, Conductor No. 8064, seemed the most truly courteous of all. Not only did he assist passengers on and off, dispense information cheerfully and notify passengers of their stop if they failed to hear his hearty bellow, but he withstood beautifully the catechism of the politeness reporter, who, once she was aboard, asked how to get to 3604 Mason.

"You mean Mason avenue, don't you?" he asked.

"I think so," came the reporter's reply.

"Well, that's about 5900 west," he said, "so you get off at Central avenue and take a bus."

In a few minutes, when he was busy with incoming passengers, she returned.

"Isn't there some other way?"

"Oh, sure," he said cheerfully. "Take Milwaukee and transfer to Irving Park."

She thanked him and departed, but soon returned.

"Which way will I have to walk the most?"

"Which way?"

"Yes—by bus or by street car?"

"Oh, it's about the same either way."

Again she came back.

"Are you sure Mason avenue is the same as Mason street? I thought I was to go to Mason street."

"Now," kindly, "I can find out right away." He collected a few more fares and then consulted a worn street guide. "Yes," jubilantly, "there's only one. Mason avenue. See?"

She sat down again. Soon he trumpeted forth— "Milwaukee avenue!" And to the reporter, who sat on a back seat, "Here's Milwaukee. Don't you want to get off?"

Approaches Him Again.

She said she had changed her mind. She would ride the bus.

"Well," he said, "you'll probably like it, anyway."

Another wait, and the reporter again approached him.

"Tell me," she said, "can I get off here and catch a street car back to Milwaukee avenue? I think I'll go that way."

"Not by bus?" he asked.

"No." Shortly. "I feel ill."

"Well, that's too bad," he said gently. "But you don't have to go all the way back to Milwaukee. You can catch a Western car at the very next corner. You'll run into Milwaukee on it."

Now there was no choice. He had the reporter by the elbow, guiding her carefully and helping her alight. "Right at that corner there," he explained. "You can just make the light . . . be careful."

Then, his eyes still upon her and goading her onto the Western avenue car which she did not want, he cheerfully waved. His relief doubtless was as great as his courtesy.

KELLY DECLARES TALE OF CHIDING PRESIDENT FALSE

Brands Article in Time as 'Sheer Fabrication.'

Mayor Kelly of Chicago yesterday added his name to an already long list of persons who classify Time, a purported news magazine, as a purveyor of fiction labeled as fact.

The leading article in the current issue of Time under the general heading "National Affairs" sets forth what it says is the "gist" of a political lecture and scolding delivered by the Chicagoan to President Roosevelt recently.

"Except for the fact that I did have luncheon with the President," said the mayor, "the whole article is sheer fabrication. I said none of the things ascribed to me or anything resembling them."

At Loss for Explanation.

Mayor Kelly, who discussed the subject over the telephone from New York, whither he had gone to place his elder son, Joe, in a preparatory school, said he was at a loss to find an explanation for the bald misrepresentation of a private conversation.

He said that during a recent visit to Washington he was in the President's office when the hour arrived for noon luncheon. Harry Hopkins had been invited, and the mayor was added to make it a threesome. Kelly said there were no other persons present, and he was confident that none of the three had repeated what was said there.

"But I see no reason for not saying plainly that none of the things ascribed to me was said. We merely chatted in a friendly way, and no questions of political importance were discussed.

Not Asked for Advice.

"President Roosevelt has never asked me for political advice. Naturally I have never offered him any."

The Chicagoan's charge that the so-called "gist" was sheer fabrication recalled previous charges of this character against Time, several of which took the form of libel suits. The most famous of these was the successful suit brought by Curtis B. Dall, President Roosevelt's former son-in-law, in which, after futilely appealing to the highest court of New York, Time was convicted of libel and obligated to settle the case for a large sum.

In that instance Time published with all the appearance of fact a statement that Dall had committed suicide in the White House. During hearing of the case John S. Martin, as managing editor of the magazine, was a witness.

It's "Dutch Lead," He Says.

Martin testified that it was the "imaginary mind of Time and not the serious reporting mind of Time" that produced the false report.

He said the misstatement was what he called a "Dutch lead," known to be untrue but intended to catch the attention of the reader.

Mayor Kelly's friends in Chicago resented some of Time's statements concerning him in the Roosevelt luncheon story, but he said that his resentment of the Time story was that it placed President Roosevelt in an undesirable light.

BRITISH AIRMEN REBEL AT SAILING SEA IN DIRTY SHIP

200 Remain on Docks at Canadian Port.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 28 (AP).—Air Minister C. G. Power said tonight "the tides of war, the accidents of weather and the errors of human judgment" combined to provoke a recent incident in which a group of Canadian-trained airmen walked ashore from a trans-Atlantic transport because of conditions they found aboard.

"There need be no fear of any repetition," said Power, who explained the ship had been half way around the world and was "dirty and untidy" but that apparently she was all the admiralty had really available at the moment. The weather made it impossible, he explained, for the ship to enter dock for cleaning.

"In the end, not 1,000 but a couple of hundred airmen were left on the dock when the ship sailed at the scheduled hour with more than two-thirds of the contingent aboard," he said. "These," he added, "already have arrived overseas."

The air minister said the first airmen to go aboard—Canadians, Australians, and New Zealanders—did not like what they saw. A number of them walked ashore and spread the word among those who had not gone aboard.

"Those who remained were disciplined, tho not severely—a reduction in pay was imposed—and they sailed a short time later on another ship," Power said.

Grounds for Complaint.

"We recognized that they had grounds for complaint about the accommodations, but we can not sympathize with their means of expressing it.

"But it can be said that the conduct of the disobedient men, apart from their courteous but firm refusal to sail under the conditions provided, was exemplary, and this was taken into account when discipline was imposed."

The air ministry took the attitude that this was a case "where a corrective is urgently demanded" and that "we propose to take steps so that similar conditions will not recur. Furthermore, it said it was presenting its views "very strongly" to the appropriate London authorities.

Famous Passenger Liner.

It said the ship was "a famous passenger liner in her peacetime days" and went on:

"She'd taken quite a beating during her service at Crete and elsewhere in the Mediterranean, and the long voyage thru the Suez canal, around Africa, and across the Atlantic with a fraction of her normal complement hadn't improved her any. She was dirty and untidy.

"But taking into consideration the shortage of shipping, apparently she was all the admiralty had readily available at the moment. To make matters worse, bad weather on our east coast kept the ship from entering dock, where she could be cleaned in the usual way. She came in shortly before she was due to sail. She had to be coaled and we were advised to get our people aboard immediately."

URGES U. S. SEND PLANE EXPERTS TO MIDDLE EAST

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 28 (AP).—Establishment of an extensive American civil aviation organization in the middle east to help the RAF in maintenance of American planes was forecast today by Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, chief of the U. S. army air corps.

Completing a two week inspection of British air needs in this area, the general said the U. S. air corps which already has a score of officers and technicians working with the British here could not establish a large maintenance organization of its own in Egypt.

Arrangements for creation of such an organization by American civil aviation, however, could be arranged in Washington, he said, with the cost paid under the lend-lease act.

GREAT AIR-SEA BATTLE RAGES, ITALIANS REPORT

Planes Attack Large Force from Gibraltar.

ROME, Sept. 28 (AP).—Italy and Britain are engaged in another great running battle between air and seapower in the western Mediterranean, the Italian high command announced today.

The Italian air force was said to be attacking "a large enemy naval formation sailing from Gibraltar," probably a convoy under heavy warship guard. The Italian communique indicated it was still too early to list any results of the duel.

Seven Italian Cities Raided.

The communique acknowledged that Britain's air force, apparently on one of its broadest offensives, had struck at not fewer than seven Italian cities in Libya, Sicily, and Sardinia.

The British raiders were said to have struck at Bengazi and Bardia on the Libyan coast, Agrigento, Marsala, Trapani and Porto Empedocle in Sicily, and Cagliari, Sardinia.

The communique said three civilians were killed and eight wounded at Porto Empedocle. It announced five British planes were shot down in different raids.

Freighter Hit, British Claim.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 28 (AP).—Widespread British air attack against Italian air bases on the islands of Sardinia and Sicily were reported today by the royal air force middle east command.

The communique said attacks were made on Elmas, Sardinia, and Marsala, Borrizo, Palermo, Agrigento, and Porto Empedocle, Sicily, during raids Friday night and Saturday. The RAF also left a medium sized freighter sinking in the Gulf of Taranto, it was said.

A large number of seaplanes were "severely damaged" at Elmas, while others were attacked at Marsala and grounded planes were "extensively damaged" at Borrizo.

Palermo Heavily Bombed.

Palermo's harbor and railways and warehouses at Agrigento, Sicily, were "heavily bombed," the communique said, adding that one German Messerschmitt was shot down.

The British middle east headquarters' communique said British patrols are continuing "aggressive activities" in the Libyan frontier zone.

HEAR GERMANY BANS ALL EXPORTS TO NORWEGIANS

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 28.—A death blow to Norwegian economy has been delivered by the stoppage of all German exports to Norway, according to statements printed here.

The newspaper Svenska Dagbladet said a letter of the German chamber of commerce in Norway informed its members of the stoppage. Two important industrial enterprises, one in Bergen and the other in Oslo, already have been informed that machine parts they ordered in Germany will not be delivered.

It is believed here the Germans will make exceptions only for factories taken over by them and producing goods for export to Germany.

NAZIS BAR JEWS FROM CROWDED PUBLIC VEHICLES

Paper Hints Ghetto May Be Created.

BERLIN, Sept. 28 (AP).—The transportation ministry today issued new restrictions for Jews and the newspaper Berliner Boersen Zeitung forecast additional stringent steps against the Jews, possibly including the introduction of the ghetto.

Jews, who are now marked by a yellow star of David sewn on their clothing, are permitted by the new decree to enter street cars, buses and other public conveyances only if these are sufficiently empty so that no waiting non-Jews need remain behind. Once in the conveyances, the Jews may sit down only if all others have seats.

Jews to Spread News.

The decree provides that the German press shall not publish the restrictions, which must be made known to Jews thru their own organizations.

The Boersen Zeitung said that "because the German people have clearly seen that the Jewish question must be solved without sentimentality, it welcomes every step leading to a real solution and has confidence its leadership will take all necessary further measures at the proper time."

The order requiring Jews to wear the star of David sewn to their clothing had opened the eyes of many Germans, the newspaper said.

Nation Astounded, Says Paper.

"For a large section of our people," it added in heavy type, "it was a disagreeable surprise to see how many of these unwanted contemporaries still live among us, namely in certain quarters of large cities; how many good houses are occupied by them at a time of home shortage, with what a free and easy way they go about the streets as tho they were alone there.

"The nation, to put it mildly, is astounded by these facts. It again finds its instinctively correct impression confirmed that Jewish wails of complaint thruout the world regarding the alleged suffering of the Jew in Germany are nothing but lying agitation."

Jews in France Must Report.

PARIS, France, Sept. 28 (AP).—A notice issued today by the Paris prefecture ordered all Jews more than 15 years old, whether French or foreign, to report regularly to French authorities beginning Oct. 1.

JOHN WARNER TALKS ABOUT BALDNESS

In a talk over the radio, John E. Warner, the nation's leading scalp specialist, said: "Take care of your hair while you have it, for baldness is a permanent condition. Nearly every day I am asked to grow hair for someone who has waited too long—and, of course, I have to tell such individuals that I can't help them. To the man who is losing his hair I can, in such cases as I accept, be sure of saving and improving the hair through progressive steps of medication and treatment."
Statistics show that as much as 95% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. If your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness, such as dandruff, itchy scalp and excessive falling hair—you should consult John E. Warner Associates without delay.
There is no charge or obligation for a scalp examination and consultation. Examination and treatment are given in strictest privacy. FEES FOR TREATMENT ARE VERY MODERATE AND ARE PAYABLE AS THE TREATMENTS ARE TAKEN—NOT IN ADVANCE. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily, Saturdays to 6 P. M.
There is a separate department for women. Other Warner offices located in Boston, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Detroit.

U-BOATS STALK CONVOY, SINK 13 SHIPS, SAY NAZIS

Claim 67,000 Ton Strike and a Stray Tanker.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Sept. 29 [Monday] (AP).—English flyers dropped explosive and incendiary bombs at numerous places in western Germany last night, an official announcement said. "The civilian population suffered limited damage," the communique said.

BERLIN, Sept. 28 (AP).—Stalking U-boats which tagged the heels of a British convoy for days were declared today to have sent 12 merchantmen and one escorting warship to the bottom of the north Atlantic between Gibraltar and England.

In addition, the high command said, a 14th vessel—a tanker of 12,000 tons—was picked off by a far ranging submarine in the south Atlantic.

Loss Put at 67,000 Tons.

Without giving the size of the escort ship, the war bulletin gave the total tonnage of the merchantmen in the smashed England bound convoy as 67,000 tons.

[The attack apparently was separate from the torpedoings which the Germans said last Thursday sank 11 of 12 convoyed merchantmen aggregating 78,000 tons off West Africa. The German account said only a small steamer of this convoy escaped.]

The U-boat successes were credited here to a "new submarine technique" at which German naval authorities often have hinted recently, but never have explained.

German bombers were said to have sent two other ships to the bottom near the Faroe Islands. One was listed as a 2,500 ton steamer, the other as an 800 ton sailing vessel.

Claim RAF Drive Broken.

German defense patrols and anti-aircraft guns along the English channel were reported breaking up most of the British formations of raiders day after day. Only individual planes of the RAF have been getting thru, the Germans said.

Some raiders were said to have penetrated to the Somme valley yesterday. The Germans said British bombs dropped there killed 10 Frenchmen and injured 15 others.

Twenty-three British planes were reported officially as shot down yesterday during hour-long air battles along the channel.

British Flyers Strafe Troops.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—RAF fighters carried out offensive patrols over occupied France today, an air ministry communique said.

"Attacks were made with cannon-fire on a supply train and also on two gasoline cars which were set afire," it said. "Aircraft on the ground, troops, and a machine gun post also were attacked and an anti-aircraft gun was silenced. None of our aircraft are missing."

More Red Chutists Land in Bulgaria; Elude Troops

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 28 (AP).—More Russian parachute troops have landed in Bulgaria, and nine of them, fully armed with guns and ammunition in quantities, succeeded in eluding Bulgar authorities, the Italian Stefani news agency reported tonight in a Sofia dispatch. Bulgarian troops and the populace were said to be hunting the parachutists in the Sliven region, in the eastern part of the country.

PRISONER DIES IN HOSPITAL.

Fred Rankin, 60 years old, a casual, became ill in a police cell in the Desplaines street police station last night, and died several hours later in county hospital.

Actress Is Mother

CONSTANCE MOORE.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 28 [Special].—A baby girl weighing 7 pounds 3 ounces was born at Cedars of Lebanon hospital early today to Constance Moore, Paramount contract player. The actress, wife of John Maschle, actor's agent, is prominent in Hollywood social circles.

NAZIS TO CLOSE 50 DAILY PAPERS IN NETHERLANDS

Paper Shortage to Put Hundreds on Dole.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—The press of The Netherlands will be drastically reduced Oct. 1, both in number of publications and their size, according to information reaching Berlin tonight from Amsterdam.

About 50 daily newspapers have been told they must cease publication because of the shortage of print paper. The same order applies to some hundreds of periodicals. The big newspapers of Amsterdam and Rotterdam and a few in smaller cities will be allowed to continue publication but the number of pages will be considerably reduced.

Hundreds Must Go On Dole.

Hundreds of Dutch newspaper workers are losing their jobs by this measure. It is announced that the needy will be given a dole from a special fund.

Other reports from The Netherlands indicate that the Dutch Nazi leader, Anton Mussert, and his party, the National Socialist Movement, will hereafter have a free field and be allowed to do their best to sell stubborn Dutchmen the idea of "the new order." The only considerable political group opposing Mussert—the so-called National Socialist Labor party—will suspend activities by decision of its leader, Dr. Van Rappard.

Other Groups Dissolved.

Following an order three months ago by Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, German commissar for The Netherlands, all political groups were dissolved except those which, in varying degrees, favored the "new order."

Besides Van Rappard's and Mussert's parties, two others still lead a nominal existence. But the so-called Netherlands Union is now said to have lost its influence by its refusal to endorse the crusade against bolshevism, and the National Front party has practically disappeared.

All Imports from Japan Prohibited by Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 28 (AP).—The Canadian government today banned all imports from Japan except under special revenue permit. The order in council providing for the ban was passed Sept. 23.

'ANY SACRIFICE' DUTY OF YOUNG: MRS. ROOSEVELT

New York, Sept. 28 [Special].—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today opened a new coffee selling radio series of commentaries on current events with an attack on noninterventionists. She assailed those "who for personal and selfish reasons insist on being blind and advocate a course which would destroy us as a nation."

This course, she said, "seems to indorse the principles which hold sway in other nations because their leaders consider them necessary to their national life." Mrs. Roosevelt charged that "sincere advocates" of the America First committee are "misguided."

Pointing to the "tragedy that we find ourselves again in a position where our freedom may have to be defended with force," she said:

"We are again facing the dedication of our people in the same way that Lincoln and the citizens of our nation were facing it on that battlefield at Gettysburg. We are asking our young men again to prepare for any sacrifice.

"We are asking our citizenry as a whole to voluntarily discipline themselves and make sacrifices today in their personal lives. This is nothing unusual. We have done it before, over and over again, in our history."

WOMAN TAKES POISON.

Mrs. May Allen, 43 years old, 1947 Washington boulevard, was taken to the county hospital last night after she had swallowed a small quantity of poison.

F. D. R.'S PAPAL AID TELLS OF ITALY'S ANTI-NAZI WAVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 29 [Monday].—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's special envoy to the Vatican, has given Prime Minister Winston Churchill facts concerning anti-German feeling in Italy, it was revealed this morning.

In this connection, the Daily Mail says: "Reliable information indicates that dissatisfaction, defeatism, and poverty are rife in Italy." On Hitler's orders, it adds, a drastic purge of the Fascist party is planned.

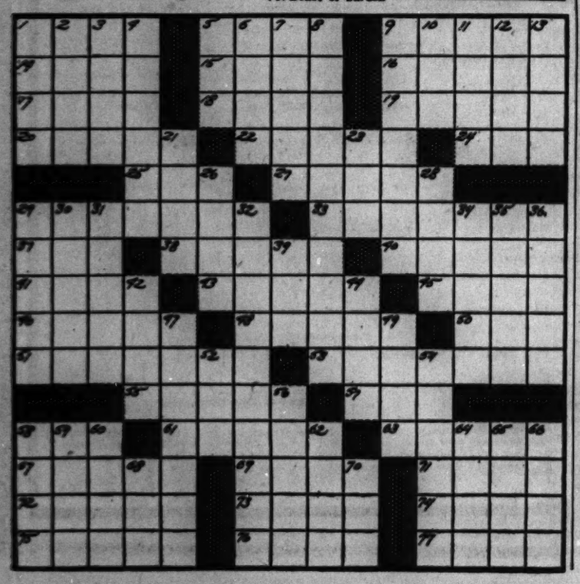
PUZZLE OF SATURDAY, SEPT. 27, SOLVED



LET THE PEOPLE DECIDE ON WAR, CUDAHY PLEADS

Urges Nation Return to Democratic Ways.

Congress and the people, not the President and his advisers, should decide whether the United States should go to war, John Cudahy, former ambassador to Poland and Belgium, asserted yesterday on the Northwestern university Reviewing Stand on W-G-N.

John Cudahy.

His fellow participants on the program were William N. McGovern, professor of political science at Northwestern and author of the recent book, "From Luther to Hitler," and Franklin D. Scott, professor of history at the university. Their subject was "How Far Should the United States Go in the War?"

When McGovern raised the question of whether we already are in the war, Cudahy replied, "If this nation is still governed by laws, by democratic processes, and not merely by men, then we certainly are not in the war. The people don't want war and they expressed themselves forcefully in the last presidential election, with both candidates professing to be out and out pacifists."

Says U. S. Is at War.

McGovern disagreed with Cudahy. "For all practical purposes," he said, "we are already in the war. 'Shoot at sight orders,' repair of Britain's battleships in our ports, and public utterances by high government officials have certainly given that impression. The question now is what should we do next, how should we carry on the war?"

Cudahy, insistent that the country is not actually at war, said, "Only congress can declare war and congress is the people's representatives."

"The people have the right to say if we should go to war," he continued. "It is the only way for them to get a hearing, to have their representatives vote for or against war. No matter what the various polls say, this country is not yet run by public opinion polls. We still have laws and a constitution and they should be followed."

President Roosevelt's orders to shoot at sight any axis submarines, Cudahy said, parallels Adolf Hitler's orders to sink all shipping bringing aid to those countries at war against Germany. "The President's policy," he declared, "will bring about shooting. The enlargement of his present policy means a shooting war, an active state of belligerency. But the people have no say in this."

Faith Severely Tested.

Scott then asked, "Shall we then stop where we are? Shall we stop all aid to Britain and Russia?"

"I say we should go back to democratic processes," replied Cudahy. "Let's put it up to the people. Let congress decide what we should do. I'm convinced the people are back of the President, altho their faith and loyalty are being put to a severe test these days. If congress did declare war, I'm certain the country would back that action. One of the troubles today is that every one is either pro-British or anti-British. I happen to be neither. I am pro-American."

CONGRESSMAN SEES STALEMATE IN EUROPE'S WAR

There will be no clear cut victory in the European war, Congressman James Shanley [D., Conn.] predicted yesterday. He was the first speaker of the 1941-'42 season of the Charles Carroll forum in the Palmer House. More than 1,000 members applauded Shanley when he described himself as a supporter of the "classical" school of neutrality.

"It is hard to foresee a definite victory," Shanley said. "Wars are won by infantry occupying enemy territory. To thus defeat Germany would be difficult, with industrial areas of Russia now in her hands. But Hitler will fall down when it comes to achieving peace. I don't think there will be any conclusion."

Shanley said he favored this country's staying out of Europe's war "to achieve this country's destiny in the Pacific." He said that the Pacific islands contain vast riches in materials and that "Oceania must be given a definite United States tinge." He quoted Admiral William D. Leahy, present ambassador to the Vichy French government, as having told him "we could cut every sea lane Japan has."

PROBE UNCOVERS PROPAGANDA IN FILMS, SAYS NYE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28 (AP).—Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] declared today the current senate investigation "has very clearly revealed the existence of propaganda in the motion picture industry."

Nye, sponsor of a resolution to authorize an investigation of the movies, said "the propaganda is being carried on with the knowledge and consent of the motion picture producers."

Asserting he is ready to make a senate fight to have the investigation officially authorized, Nye told reporters the preliminary inquiry has established "that the industry has exerted pressure to try to control the channels of information and has even gone to the extent of seeking to drive newspapers into dropping unfavorable columns. To the credit of the newspapers, they have not been browbeaten."

HUNGRY ITALIAN GARRISON QUITS ETHIOPIAN FIGHT

Yields Uolchefit to British After 164 Day Siege.

ROME, Sept. 28 (AP).—Out of food, with uniforms in tatters and shoes worn off their feet by wilderness forays against the British to capture supplies, the Fascist force at Uolchefit, one of Italy's last strongholds in Ethiopia, has surredered after 164 days of siege.

Today's high command communique wrote this finis to the hopeless resistance of the isolated garrison:

"In east Africa the garrison at Uolchefit, which has been besieged since April 15, was ordered to cease resistance on Sept. 26 since the garrison had been without food supplies for days past.

Make Final "Audacious" Sortie.

"Crowning previous brilliant offensive and defensive actions, this Italian garrison carried out a last audacious sortie, engaging and repelling numerically superior enemy forces and inflicting heavy losses on them."

In other sections of the so-called Gondar front, British attacks were "effectively repelled," the high command said.

[The London war office announced that the Uolchefit garrison had surrendered to British and Ethiopian troops and estimated that only 9,000 to 10,000 Italian and native forces remained under arms in the Gondar region. Uolchefit's garrison was said to have numbered about 4,000 men and the position was considered important because it commanded a strategic pass.]

The British seemed intent on cleaning out the last resistance in Ethiopia before the season for active warfare opens in the western desert of Egypt and Libya.

Uolchefit Supplies Cut.

The Uolchefit garrison had no alternative but surrender. With more men, guns, and planes, the British had closed in on the stronghold, cutting any supply route the Italians might have had in the mountains near the frontier of Eritrea, which already was in British hands.

With weak radio reports and an occasional message by plane, the garrison was able to report occasionally on its resistance. The men, both white and native soldiers, had been on near-starvation rations for weeks. Cold winds and rains of the uplands added to their hardships.

Now only the similarly beleaguered garrisons of Culquabert, Celga, and Gondar itself remain to make a last stand in Premier Mussolini's all but lost east African empire.

BRITISH FEARFUL REDS MIGHT SIGN SEPARATE PEACE

Ponder Means of Getting Help to Russia.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Some concern has been felt in Great Britain lest soviet Russia might be forced into another Brest-Litovsk treaty with Germany and this disquiet was not entirely dissipated by the statement today in the People, the Labor party's Sunday paper, that Russia has rejected alleged German peace feelers.

[A dispatch from Ankara, Turkey, said authorized sources there characterized reports to the effect that armistice negotiations were under way between Russia and Germany as "laughable, absurd, and a product of German propaganda."]

The most effective preventive of such a separate peace as the Russians signed with Germany in the World war, it is contended, must be that Britain prove in every way that her assistance is whole hearted and in no way corresponds with the statement attributed to Minister of Aircraft Production J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon that he hoped the Russian and German armies would exterminate each other.

Suggestions for Help.

What can Britain do to aid Russia, is the question asked and answered in almost every newspaper and periodical. Among the various moves suggested are an attempted invasion of the continent now to create a diversion; increased bombing activity to compel the Germans to keep powerful air force units in the west; a sweeping campaign which would drive the axis from North Africa, and, of course, replenishing Russian material losses from British and American factories.

It is also suggested that when Gen. Archibald P. Wavell, commander of the British forces in India, was here recently he discussed the possibility of a large British expeditionary force joining with the Russian armies in the Caucasus.

There is no longer any inclination here to discount the magnitude of the German advances, particularly in southern Russia. Contributing to the concern expressed are reports of a separatist movement in the Caucasus, the reported imminence of Bulgarian entrance into the war, and the growing belief that Turkey's attitude may be affected by axis threats on one hand and tempting bait on the other for indirect assistance to the axis.

Fear Separatist Action.

The Economist, a weekly, in an article headed "Caucasian Separatism," said that the British-soviet coöperation already has had repercussions in this direction and a "recrudescence of Caucasian separatists' propaganda and militant activities may be expected at the crucial moment of a German attack against the Caucasus.

The axis is said to be putting pressure on Turkey to permit the Italian navy, under the guise of being sold and transferred to the Bulgarian flag, to enter the Black sea by way of the Dardanelles and Bosporus straits. Turkey is the guardian of the straits under the Montreux convention.

The New Statesman and Nation recalled that Turkey allowed the German troops which occupied Greek islands commanding the Dardanelles to pass thru the straits on Bulgarian ships.

The Italian fleet, with those of Bulgaria and Rumania and with other craft which the Germans might assemble in the Black sea, could well be the determining factor in the success of a German drive into the Caucasus. Some experts assert that unless Hitler can seize the Caucasian oil fields "he has lost the war."

MOTHERS POOL EFFORT TO KEEP U. S. OUT OF WAR

Plan Campaign at Home and in Washington.

A group of earnest women in a small room at the La Salle hotel yesterday started a movement to organize a vast army of mothers thruout the nation to work for the cause of peace.

They were representatives of anti-war organizations from New York to California who were called together by We, the Mothers, Mobilize, a Chicago group, for a two day Peace congress. The congress opened Saturday.

Mother of Nine Is Leader.

With Mrs. Grace Keefe, 6209 South children, as their leader, the delegates decided to coördinate the efforts of their individual organizations into a nation-wide federation whose membership will run into millions. The federation will be known temporarily as the Defenders of the United States of America.

The federation's plan of action will be concentrated on two fronts, in Washington, D. C., where a permanent headquarters will be established, and on the home grounds of the member organizations, Mrs. Keefe explained.

Plan Peace Rally.

As a start to their Washington campaign, 500 mothers will descend on the capital Oct. 10 and plead with congressmen to defeat amendments to the neutrality act and to urge repeal of the lend-lease bill.

Other projects include a giant peace massmeeting in Washington; the issuance of a daily bulletin entitled, "Light," and a vast prayer meeting for mothers, to be held in the public squares of cities thruout the country.

ROB OAK PARK COUPLE.

Two masked bandits held up Dominic Price and his wife early yesterday as the Prices were parking their car behind their home at 515 Jackson boulevard, Oak Park. The gunmen took $165 cash, Mrs. Price's fur coat and jewelry worth $1,500.

STEEL STRIKERS VOTE TO RETURN TO WORK AS SOLDIERS LEAVE

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 28 (AP).—The steel workers organizing committee [CIO] voted tonight to end the 24 hour strike which had halted operations of the huge Tennessee Coal, Iron, and Railroad company steel mills. Resumption of operations was timed for 11 p. m. More than 30,000 men are employed in the TCI plants and mines.

Settlement followed removal of 500 Alabama state Guardsmen from about the company plants. Gov. Frank M. Dixon agreed to the removal of the Guardsmen after William Mitch, southern director of SWOC, and other union leaders pledged there would be no disorders at the mills.

The final vote ending the strike was taken by the Ensley mill local two hours before the 11 p. m. shift. Under terms of the settlement, grievances at the Ensley plant will be negotiated.

FORMER GREEK PREMIER TELLS OF NAZI INVASION

Costas Cotzias, former mayor and civil governor of Athens, and acting prime minister of Greece after the death of Premier Alexandros Korizis, yesterday gave several hundred members of the Hellenic Club of Professional Men of Chicago his account of the German invasion of Greece at a meeting in the Morrison hotel. Cotzias was civil governor of Athens when the German invasion of his country began. Then, shortly before Thrace was overrun, he was appointed governor of that province to supervise the evacuation of the civilian population from the war zone. After the German occupation he escaped by way of Turkey, Egypt, and South Africa.

Negotiations toward a contract to replace the present pact, expiring Oct. 31, were deadlocked last week. The contract covers 1,250 workers in the United States and Hawaii.

RCA maintains sole direct communications with Moscow, Berlin, Rome, Cairo, the Dutch East Indies, and other vital centers in war zones.

THE STORE FOR MEN
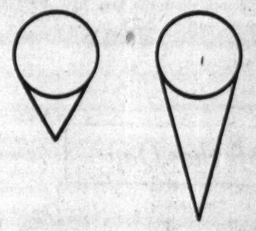
Counsellors in good appearance
—that vital factor in your success

Clothes can do things FOR you or TO you!

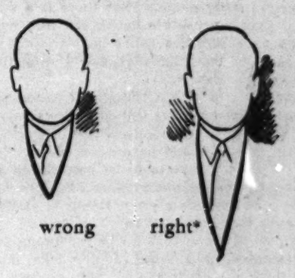
A man can control nearly every factor that affects his appearance. He can even do something about those seemingly fixed factors of age, height and build. It's a matter of choosing the right clothes—clothes that in line and color accent his good points and play down his poor ones.

The staff of Marshall Field's Store for Men has made a special study of line and color as it affects a man's appearance. May we help you in the selection of clothes that will definitely do things for you?

Compare!

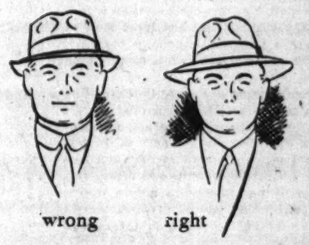


Here are two circles with exactly the same diameters. Note how the long V creates an illusion that makes that circle appear narrower than the circle with the short V.



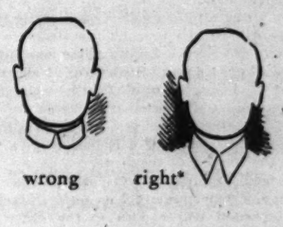
wrong right*

In terms of clothes, this shows what the long V line can mean to a man with a full face. A long, sweeping lapel and a good showing of linen create an illusion that narrows a full face—give a short man more height.



wrong right

The man with a round, full face is here shown wearing the proper wide-brimmed hat as compared with the same man wearing a narrow brim. It's all a matter of line.



wrong right*

For a round, jovial face, the shirt collar should have about 3¼-inch points, slightly spread. The rounded collar would, of course, be wrong as it repeats the curves of the face.

Should the man with a prominent belt line wear a single- or double-breasted suit?

Should a short man wear a long suit coat?

Should a thin man wear a double-breasted coat?

Do light-colored clothes increase or decrease apparent size?

Should a man with a small face wear a narrow-brimmed hat?

Save Our Republic

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Destruction from Within.

At what point then is the approach of danger to be expected? I answer: If it ever reach us it must spring up amongst us; it cannot come from abroad. If destruction be our lot we must ourselves be its author and finisher. As a nation of free men we must live through all time, or die by suicide. I hope I am overwary; but if I am not, there is even now something of ill omen amongst us. I mean the increasing disregard for law which pervades the country.

Abraham Lincoln

Springfield, Jan. 27, 1837.

THE INFATUATED LOVER PAWNS HER JEWELS.

The head of a Chicago business firm was one among other American business men, probably thousands of them, interested in receiving a letter from the B. Herr's Stores, Greenwich High road, London, saying that for $5 he could obtain miniatures of protection shields designed for British fire watchers. They are made of steel and are to be used as book ends.

Mr. Kerr of the Herr's Stores sincerely hopes "you will not need one of the actual seven pound steel shields for your own protection," but the miniatures "are the real thing to remind you of London in 1941 and will give you the satisfaction of having furnished some of the foreign currency so badly needed by this side."

American business men will reflect upon two things: One, that steel is being rationed in the United States to the confusion of American production of needed materials of civilian use, and, second, that the foreign currency needs of Great Britain, having already received a 7 billion dollar appropriation, now are before congress in another 6 billion dollar bill.

Mr. Kerr's firm is probably small fry in the British export trade, but apparently it has access to steel to fabricate into book ends for the return trip to the United States. This illustration of the growing scandal is a small one, but not without its importance as a revelation indicating that there is something rotten in a country larger than Denmark.

The impending disaster to American finance and industry is taking shape and showing what it will mean to the future. The party here responsible for it is like an infatuated woman who will ruin her family and herself to gain and retain the favor of a lover who has bewitched her. The love light in the eyes of the interventionists should be a beacon to warn the American nation of the rocks toward which it is drifting and upon which it will break up. The great infatuation has thrilled the war party to the point of delirium.

Congress has but the vaguest idea of what is being done with the 7 billion dollars already authorized to procure any materials which the British army of occupation in Washington may demand of the deranged mistress of the British empire, whether wine, house furnishings, farm implements, cheese, milk, eggs, or tanks. The great lover has found a soft touch.

Before the expenditure of any more American money is authorized by congress that body should undertake to find out what is being done with the money already given. That there is a scandal in it hardly permits a doubt. At first what appeared as absurdities could be attributed to the expectable bungling that would attend so strange, stupendous, and deceptive a scheme as that involved in giving a belligerent nation permission to draw upon the United States treasury almost ad lib.

A crazy scheme would have some odd developments. They might seem to be inherent in the toxic qualities of the undertaking. But the idea that these aberrations are not frauds is yielding to evidence that they may be. The British have made a poor showing thus far in explaining that the extraordinary gift of the 7 billion dollar donation to their war needs has not been abused.

It is natural for a woman of doubtful charms not to care what the adored person does with the money she obtains by pawning her jewels and ruining her husband. No objection will come from her and no protection will be had unless the family comes to its senses and takes her in hand. The family is represented by congress. The Republican members of the appropriations committee in the house who will make a fight against the new 6 billion dollar grant justly fear that they will be run over by the steam roller of the administration. Among these opponents Lambertson of Kansas, Stefan of Nebraska, Engel of Michigan, Rich of Pennsylvania, and Jones of Ohio have been steam rollered before, and they fear unless they get some support from the public they won't get a chance to give the new bill the workout it requires.

If the family representative—congress—has retained any sense of propriety or sanity, has any regard for what will happen to the American home or for common honesty in international affairs, it will go into the matter of the 7 billion dollar lend-lease authorization before it throws away another huge hunk of the American treasury.

The American family is facing ruin, and if congress doesn't save it, it can't be saved.

BRITISH FRANKNESS AND AMERICAN DECEPTION.

Herbert Morrison, home secretary in the British cabinet, said the other day that he hopes the United States will not turn its back on Europe after the war, when armed strength will be necessary to preserve the peace.

Mr. Morrison has ample precedent for his frankness. In this war the American people have had to depend on the British not only to tell us what our own leaders are doing, but likewise to disclose the goal toward which those leaders are trying to push us.

Gen. Wavell and other British military leaders said frankly that Britain's hope of winning the war rests on an American expeditionary force. Mr. Morrison presents us anew with article X of the league of nations covenant. Dakar, Suez, Norway, Armenia, and points east are to be not merely the objectives of the new AEF. They are to be the sites of permanent American garrisons. It is not enough that we restore the four freedoms. We are to stay on the ground to see that they are enjoyed, at the point of the bayonet if necessary. Comes Mr. Roosevelt's revolution, the world will eat strawberries even if it doesn't like strawberries.

There is an illuminating contrast between this British frankness and the deception that has characterized each of the Roosevelt administration's steps toward war. The deception is necessary. It is only by misrepresentation, but making each step seem faintly plausible to noncritical minds, that the American people have been brought as far as they have been. If the whole picture were unfolded to them, they would gag at it.

MORGENTHAU'S PLACE IN HISTORY.

The United States department of commerce in its annual review for 1935, made the following statement:

"Deficits of the magnitude created yearly during the depression to meet payments of wages, salaries, interest, and dividends sapped the vitality of the entire business structure and could not have been sustained indefinitely."

Another commerce department report on "National Income" shows in dollars and cents the extent of the sapping of corporation vitality during the depression to meet pay rolls, and interest charges, and to maintain dividends. From 1930 to 1934 payments out of the surplus of corporations amounted to 21 billion 288 million dollars. During 1935 they disbursed nearly 1½ billions more out of their previously accumulated surpluses. It was because corporations had been permitted to retain large amounts of their earnings in the years before 1930 that they were able to pay out nearly 23 billion dollars more than they earned in the toughest depression this country has ever seen.

Inasmuch as the surplus of corporations proved to be so useful in the depression, it would seem to be the soundest governmental policy to encourage companies to rebuild their surpluses which had been depleted during the depression, so that they might be able to pay out salaries, wages, interest, and dividends again in another rainy day.

That was not the view of the New Deal. For when in 1936 corporations again began to show net earnings from their operations, the President persuaded congress to enact a law compelling corporations to disburse substantially all of their earnings each year or subject themselves to a punitive tax on amounts retained in the business.

That law was on the books for two years and was a leading cause of the collapse of business which set in right after Labor day, 1937. Public opinion then forced the repeal of the law, which even some who voted for it described as the worst tax in all history.

Corporations have now had two years within which to begin to repair their financial condition. It would take years of plowing back earnings to make them as strong as at the beginning of 1930. The corporate saving program has been made particularly difficult by the increase of the normal corporation tax to 24 per cent, and the imposition of excess profits tax running up to as much as 50 per cent.

Some progress has, nevertheless, been made. Last Wednesday, however, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau appeared before a house committee and proposed that no corporation should be permitted to earn more than 6 per cent on its invested capital. Any earnings in excess of 6% would be confiscated by the government. This means that companies will not be able to accumulate any more rainy day money. Many believe that the depression which will follow the war boom will be infinitely worse than the last. If Morgenthau has his way he will go down in history as the man who weakened the structure of American business as the worst emergency approached.

Editorial of the Day

HENDERSON ERRORS.

[Dallas Morning News.]

The President frequently errs unhappily in his choice of colleagues, chiefly because of a penchant for distrusting experience and preferring theory. Few people in business or industry were satisfied with the selection of Leon Henderson for the price control job. Reason: Here is an important and necessary post in the presumed effort to avoid inflation, a job that surely requires thoro knowledge of how business is run. So for the post Mr. Roosevelt selected a man who has never run a business and has spent most of his life on the public pay roll, especially during a period when all pretense is abandoned of making even government pay its own way.

Initially the administration has erred in attempting price control with willful determination to disregard as a factor the basic elements of wages and hours of labor. Entrusting operations to an inept director is of a piece with that unsound start. So it is not surprising to find the combination of the two errors represented in certain of the Henderson orders which, in effect, provide confiscation instead of price control by fixing a price "ceiling" lower than the cost of production.

Mr. Henderson's price schedule on southern yellow pine is challenged on a factual base by the Texas lumber industry. Since the figures were supplied the price administrator, his absurd and unjust confiscatory order cannot have been made in ignorance. Presumably he can list sections where production cost can meet his figures, but obviously a serious price ceiling must fit the conditions for all producing areas. Similarly it will be recalled that Chrysler in refusing to meet the administrator's request for fixed car price called attention to the cost factors, especially wage increase, which justified the higher price fixed by the company.

Mr. Henderson's job is supposedly an emergency job. It calls for a high degree both of efficiency and understanding, plus a patriotic resolve to serve the country by maintaining nonpartisan fairness. To date, Mr. Henderson's service seems to imply devotion only to the radical principles of the New Deal. If anything could go further toward national socialization than mandatory price structure below the cost of production, this page has failed to identify it.

[Editor's note: Since the Dallas Morning News published the above editorial, Mr. Henderson has raised the price limit on southern pine lumber, conceding that the increase was necessary to enable thousands of small mills to continue in profitable operation.]

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office.

MR. PEPYS FACES THE FACTS.

28th Sept.—Called my tailor into a consultation over my evening clothes, which I have not worn for a long time, and he shook his head sadly and told me there was no hope for a restoration because the tails were four inches too short and the trousers three inches too tight, and the general effect was not in fashion. I did point out to him that the present style of tails almost as long as the skirts of Shylock's gaberdine was a revival of 1872, and that the fashion might change and bring me back into the mode, but still he gave no encouragement. Then I asked how much a new model would cost, and I have not yet recovered from the shock.

When I think of the many gay nights I have spent in my old tenue de soir I hate to part with it, for I am sure a new suit, if any, will never equal that record. Yet the old garments are not worn out at all, for they were woven to live almost forever. It is I who have changed, and the times and the fashions, for the worse. Even my tailor said, "We do not put so much fine workmanship into such suits any more."

Well, it is very sad, especially for my bank account, and I hope it may inspire some poet to burst into an ode to an old dress suit that has danced with Irene Castle, and Ina Claire, and Elsie Ferguson, and had a rose pinned on its lapel by Sarah Bernhardt.

Let's Take Their Word for It.

Otto Eisenschiml claims that Albert Parsons' singing of "Annie Laurie" in the county jail the night before his execution on Nov. 11, 1887, was a newspaper reporter's invention [Sept. 16].

Inspector Michael J. Schaack published a book about the Haymarket affair entitled "Anarchy and Anarchists." In his chapter on the execution he says:

"Parsons did not seek his couch till after midnight, and then it was some time before the rapid thoughts coursing thru his brain would permit him to sleep. Before morning he broke the stillness of his surroundings by singing a favorite song of his earlier days, 'Annie Laurie.' The clear tones echoing down the corridor startled all then awake, and prisoners and death-watch eagerly inclined their heads to catch every word and note. When Parsons drew near the closing stanza his voice tripped and hesitated, unmistakably showing that his feelings were giving way to the recollections of former times."

David's book, "The History of the Haymarket Affair," on page 462, states:

"Parsons seemed to be in thoro good humor and sang 'Annie Laurie' before going to sleep two hours past midnight."

The "Life of Albert R. Parsons," by his wife, Lucy Parsons, makes the same claim.

The song which Parsons sang may have been some proletarian chant to the tune of "Annie Laurie." Frederick Rex.

The Complimentary Close.

Father Divine dates his business letters "Sept. 27, 1941, A. D. F. D." and concludes them with:

"Best wishes to you, this leaves ME Well, Healthy, Joyful, Peaceful, Lively, Loving, Successful, Prosperous and Happy in Spirit, Body and Mind and in every organ, muscle, sinew, joint, limb, vein and bone and even in every atom, fibre and cell of MY Bodily Form." Quizzicuss.

LINCOLN PARK: AUTUMN.

Children still play. A reader reads a book.
A squirrel scuffs the sharp sand—leaps—is gone.
The far skies lend the land a sapphire look,
And sunburned lanes lead amorously on.
But a sudden startle of gold goes down the wind,
And something's in the air that augurs ill:
Why have the flowers flown, the treetops thinned,
And whence this light that lies so pale, so still?
Out of the hush a sun-dial answers all:
'Tis later than you think . . . five fatal words
That sum the lengthening shadows on the wall,
Explain the vanished blooms, the banished birds,
And sigh, in anguished echoes of the past,
"There is no dream, no summer, that can last."

Chicago's First Mounties.

Mounted police officers, now so common, were seen first in Chicago's streets in connection with the hanging of the Haymarket anarchists. On that November morning a cordon of "cops" on horseback girdled the four blocks around the county jail, armed with rifles and revolvers. No one without a pass was permitted inside the deadline until the black flag was hoisted to signalize the law's supremacy to the silent thousands on the sidelines. That was the occasion of my debut as a Chicago reporter, writing the outside scenes for the old Times. Arthur W. O'Neill.

Call Off the Dogs.

The dogs of war are straining at their leash; the sea dogs are keeping their dogwatch on the decks; the dog star is twinkling at the dogfights in the air; the dog days and dogwood blossoms have gone with the dog briar rose and dogtooth violets; dog-eared autumn leaves are falling, and it's a dog's life, doggone it. MAKE ATHLETICS SAFE.

BOYS will be boys, and games will be played. A slight element of risk attends every form of activity and the thing to do is to minimize the hazards and thus enhance the benefits.

There has been a commendable trend toward safety in athletics. In fact, it is claimed in some quarters that the average college participant is about as free from danger as he would be at home. There is, however, a striking need for more strict supervision, especially among high school boys who engage in strenuous sports. They suffer approximately three times as many fractures as do those of college age. Fatalities due to football have been reduced more than 60 per cent since 1931. The peril, however, can be diminished further with sufficient training, adequate control, and protective devices.

The causative factors are [1], poor leadership; [2], lax officials, and [3], lack of practice. In the state of New York, the board of regents recognizes athletics as an integral part of the school curriculum and certain rules are laid down governing all participants. Physical directors have gone even further. They have increased the standards in the interests of security.

Among the precautions taken mention may be made of helmets, which football players are obliged to wear. The reason is that head injuries are among the most serious. In addition, present custom permits frequent substitutions. Goal posts are no longer on the line. The uniform, too, is improved—with a half inch of padding over the knees and the bony prominences. Cleats have been regulated and roughing is outlawed. If it occurs, the officials are to blame.

But conditioning is perhaps the most important factor of all, and weeks and weeks of drill are called for. This applies particularly to the immature and improperly prepared boy. His muscles are less responsive and his nervous system not accurately coordinated. He lacks the spring necessary for self-preservation. These youngsters swell the casualty list.

Other measures include the passing of a careful examination by every lad on the squad. This checkup must be thoro. The physician attached to the student health division must himself possess a rather rigid backbone. At times he may be obliged to deny the appeals of coaches and the pleas of members of the team. He may be forced to educate vociferous alumni concerning the unwisdom of making human sacrifices.

What parts are most often involved? As we would expect, the knees, the shoulders, wrists, and ankles receive most of the punishment. This means that the areas in question should be provided with proper defensive armor. Occasionally, strapping with adhesive tape will reinforce the ligaments. As a rule, spinal columns hold up unusually well.

While abdominal accidents are rare, nevertheless cases have been reported of rupture of the spleen or even the bladder. Blows upon the head, altho not common, seem to be more serious than those affecting the joints or other parts of the skeleton. Many will recover with little treatment but a few will suffer swelling of the brain and, unless prompt and skilled care is available, the outlook may be unfavorable.

Parents have great confidence in school authorities and the responsibility, which is borne by the athletic department is not assumed lightly. Coaches, directors, and trainers without exception are committed to the principle that the members of the squad must be safeguarded even tho a contest is lost.

AN OPAQUE SUBSTANCE.

O. P. M. writes: Why is barium used in a fluoroscopic examination?

REPLY.

The preparation of barium employed is insoluble and hence passes thru the alimentary tract unchanged. Furthermore, it forms a paste which molds itself to the contour of the bowel. The shadow observed by the fluoroscope will then reveal a perfect cast of the intestinal tube.

DRY TONGUE.

Mrs. B. H. writes: What is the cause of a dry tongue?

REPLY.

Perhaps you are thirsty. Some interference with the secretion of saliva may be responsible. We depend upon the output of the salivary glands to keep the parts moist. A careful inventory, including the state of the blood and the digestive tract, is advised.

POLICY OF STARVATION.

Grenada, Miss., Sept. 26.—An American and a Christian cannot go along with cantankerous Cordell Hull on his "am I my brother's keeper" attitude toward starving Europeans whether they are German dominated or not. If starvation is American policy as well as British, I don't see that the world will be better for an American victory.

DAVID C. ARTHURS.

FINDS IT WAS JUST A HORSE.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Northern camps for northern soldiers! That's the theme of the girls they left behind them. Congressmen, please note. . . . Several days ago my special draftee wrote: "Won't be home for a long time: lost my money on Southern Belles!" Well! I figured the best cure for a broken heart was another. I decided to step out myself. . . . I don my last pair of Christmas stockings and my Hedy Lamarr dress and I'm off! The evening was fairly gay until the orchestra started playing "High on a Windy Hill." . . . My escort's toupee blew off onto a girl's pompadour and was not recovered.

Arthur then took a couple of quickies to bolster his pride. And it didn't help matters any when he started doing the bunny hug! It took a couple of dirty looks and a mean left to convince him the dance wasn't being done this year. . . . The left finished our evening. I dragged him over to the stag line, propped him against another antique, and took my departure. Sure I'm sorry I stepped out, but how was I to know Southern Belles was a horse?

FRANCES HALE.

A DANGEROUS CORNER.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—I have a daughter, not yet 6, who has just started to St. Thomas Aquinas school. The route from home leads west on West End avenue and at the junction with Cicero hazards are great. My elderly mother is required to accompany the child to school and it is also a hazard for her as there is no policeman at that corner or any corner on the way to the school.

At numerous corners in addition to traffic policemen, boys with a badge act as traffic guards for smaller children, yet in the neighborhood above mentioned, where taxpayers are taxed to the hilt for every conceivable item, this city police service is peculiarly lacking. Why?

The lives of small children are risked daily, not to mention others, in some cases elderly, who must conduct them across Cicero avenue in all kinds of weather. E. CARROLL.

LET THE PEOPLE VOTE!

Troy, Wis., Sept. 25.—I note that Representative Hamilton Fish of New York is urging a trial vote by congress upon the issue of war. But the majority of congress is not following the wishes of the majority of our people. So I feel that the only safe course would be a direct referendum of the people and not a vote by the congress that has already allowed our country to be brought to the brink of ruin. The issue is too vital not to take the safer course. M. S. S.

HER BELOVED ENEMIES.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—It was very touching—that paragraph your reader quotes from Maupassant's short story, "La Mere Sauvage," describing the absence of patriotic hatred among the peasants.

But the sender neglected to mention that the elderly lady who "loved them well, her four enemies," when she learned that her son had been killed in battle, prepared a feast for the beloved enemies temporarily housed in her cottage, then carried a great deal of hay into the loft where they slept under the guise of making a warmer sleeping place for them, removed the ladder after they had closed the trap, filled her kitchen with straw, set fire to it, and burned cottage and enemies to cinders. During the feast she considerately persuaded them to write down their names and addresses so that their parents might know how peaceful had been their deaths.

The dear peasants may not "understand at all those bellicose ardors or those pretended political combinations," but the story would seem to indicate that they are thoroly versed in the fine art of revenge.

THE KNUDSEN METAMORPHOSIS.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—A Dane by birth, and of some forty years' standing as an American citizen, I subscribe unreservedly to every word of The Tribune's editorial on an esteemed compatriot of mine, "Mr. Knudsen Joins the Ex-Patriates."

Pity of it is that, while in industrial matters a veritable genius, in general a man of exceptional talents and attainments, Mr. Knudsen in his heart of hearts has remained the simple minded, good natured Great Dane and as such became too easily beguiled by Washington high society crusters, exiled royalists and diplomats, New Deal confidence men, and war howling dervishes. Yet, I have a hunch that some day Friend Knudsen may feel himself constrained to balk emphatically against conditions and practices directly opposed to ideas and ideals he has honored for a lifetime. At least, I am sure he means well and isn't out to feather his own nest. C. B.

DOWN THE PRIMROSE PATH.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 24.—We are hearing much of late from the President and his war mongers about unity of purpose and nation.

The undeniable facts are that you must take every statement made by the President [as far as doing what he promises to do] with a grain of salt. For the last nine years he and his combination of half-wits, who compose the New Deal, have been leading the people down the primrose path on borrowed money. Even those who have been on the receiving end can now see the handwriting on the wall. They are slowly but surely awakening to the fact that there is practically nothing under the sun the President wouldn't do to save his own face.

Will they again allow themselves to be led down the road to war by placing faith in a man whose entire tenure of office has been a living repudiation of promises made before his election.

AMOS COWAN.

LA GUARDIA'S GAS MASKS.

Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 26.—A news dispatch from New York, appearing on page two of yesterday's Tribune, states that Mayor La Guardia has completed arrangements for the manufacture of 60 million gas masks for civilians who may "conceivably come within range of gas attacks from the air."

It has been proved in England, and is now admitted by the English themselves, that a gas barrage cannot be laid from the air.

Like the millions of dollars now being spent uselessly on new battleships, instead of on airplanes and airplane carriers, the contracts for gas masks would simply add to the futile orgy of spending upon which the administration has embarked. JOHN F. MARTIN.

TITLE PAPERS.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband has bought a house under his name. Some one has told me that we should have this matter straightened out because, God forbid it, if death should occur I would be left without anything.

1. Is this true?

2. I have also heard if I paid the mortgage on it it still would not be mine. To whom would it belong? The mortagee? My husband said [3] it would cost about $30 for attorney's fees, and I understand it would only cost $3 to record it.

4. What would you advise, where, and what would the cost be? T. Y.

1. No. You would take a share in his estate but if he placed the title in joint tenancy it would have the advantage of removing the necessity of probate proceedings.

2. If you pay a mortgage on another person's property and the mortgage was canceled this will be to the advantage of the owner of the property. If, on the other hand, you purchase the mortgage without its being canceled then you would hold a lien on the property.

3. This pronoun has no antecedent.

4. We suggest that you have a personal interview with an attorney.

HIS SLAIN WIFE IN TRUNK WHILE HE VISITS CLUBS

Accused Killer Recounts Life History.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 28 (AP).—Police Captain Fred Williams said today that Charles Napoleon Ney, 60 year old retired mail carrier charged with slaying his elderly wife, admitted he had made a round of French quarter night clubs while her body lay stuffed in a trunk in his room.

Ney, according to Williams, still denied knowledge of how his wife, the former Mrs. Edith B. Lane, 60, of Boston, had met her death, but disclosed he had been "practically broke" until his marriage to the woman last June and now had thousands of dollars.

Williams said Ney, claiming to be a great-great-great-grandson of Napoleon's famous Marshal Ney, also told him he had been an inmate of the Alabama State Mental hospital at Tuscaloosa in 1906 and again in 1938 and was divorced by his first wife three years ago for excessive drinking.

Ney's Story of Life.

Williams said Ney told this story:

He was raised at Talladega, Ala., educated at the University of Heidelberg, Germany, and obtained a degree there but decided not to practice medicine and returned to Talladega to farm.

He used the name James Hayden because Hayden was the name of his mother's second husband. Her first husband, Charles Napoleon Ney, the arrested man's father, died in Paris.

He became a mail carrier but was pensioned off at $68 a month two years ago. Shortly after going to St. Petersburg, Fla., last April he met Mrs. Lane, widow of a Boston dentist, and married her by proxy in mid-May when she was in Boston and he was in New Orleans.

Wed in Miami in June.

The couple was married by a justice of the peace in Miami in June. Shortly after meeting Mrs. Lane he entered the jewelry business, earning as much as "$10,000 a month, 100 per cent of which was clear profit."

Mrs. Ney complained Thursday to Mrs. Edward Aldidge, landlady of the apartment the couple had rented the day before, that she was "upset" and wanted to leave, but Ney told Mrs. Aldidge "Don't pay any attention to my wife."

Ney went night clubbing Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights, and early Saturday morning "smelled an odor from the trunk and saw blood and thought it best to take it back to Talladega so the police there could open it." He said his wife had gone to Boston to visit a brother.

Possesses Cash and Jewels.

Williams said that when Ney was taken into custody he was carrying $1,300 in cash, $700 in money orders made out to Mrs. Ney, a $1,000 check signed by Mrs. Ney and made payable to her husband, and jewelry worth about $600. He also had an automobile purchased for $1,200 last July.

CATHOLIC CLERGY DEDICATE NEW CHAPEL AT FORT

A Roman Catholic ceremony yesterday dedicated the first of Fort Sheridan's three new chapels. Altho not designed as permanent structures, the buildings are of substantial wood construction to conform with other buildings on the cantonment.

Archbishop Samuel Stritch blessed and dedicated the Sacred Heart chapel. Bishop John F. O'Hara, military ordinariate of the army and navy, came from New York to celebrate the mass.

TWO BOYS ADMIT HATCHET MURDER TO GET MAN'S $5

Two Negro boys, 15 and 11 years old, yesterday confessed to Homewood sheriff's police the murder Wednesday night in Phoenix of Albert M. Oliver, 58, colored, on a village street. Oliver, from whose pockets the boys took $5, was beaten to death with a broken hatchet.

The boys are Allan Thomas Foster, 15, of 15333 8th avenue, Phoenix, and Kenneth Riddle, 11, 619 East 154th street, Phoenix.

Deciding Wednesday night that they "needed some money," the boys found a broken hatchet and waited on a side street. Oliver was the first person to pass. Foster struck him three times with the hatchet; the boys took a $5 bill from his pocket, and then fled.

Early yesterday Deputies Andrew Wroble and Frank Freistatter learned that Riddle had told a colored grocer in Phoenix of the robbery. They then arrested both boys at their homes. Sergt. Maylath said both had signed confessions.

NORSE PRINCESS ATTENDS CHURCH WITH ROOSEVELT

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 28.—President Roosevelt and his royal house guest, Crown Princess Martha of Norway, today bowed their heads in prayer for world peace in ivy clad St. James Episcopal church.

They heard the Rev. Frank R. Wilson, the rector, preach a sermon which undertook to answer the question: Why doesn't God stop the war? In the course of the sermon the rector asked:

"Has America helped to upset the world situation?"

He looked toward his most distinguished parishioner.

His Answer Is "Yes."

"Yes," he answered his own question.

"Can we help to restore peace?" he asked again.

"Yes," came the second affirmative.

The President sat in his family pew with Princess Martha. Also in the pew were the three children of the princess, Prince Harald and Princesses Ragnhild and Astrid, and two attendants.

The President, Princess Martha, and her children drove to church in an open car. Just as Mr. Roosevelt and the princess entered the car after the services the Rev. Mr. Wilson handed each a booklet of daily Bible readings. He urged Mr. Roosevelt to devote a "minute a day" to it.

Mrs. Roosevelt did not attend church. She remained at home resting from the vigil she spent beside the death bed of her brother, G. Hall Roosevelt, who was buried yesterday. She left Hyde Park at 5 p. m. for New York and Washington.

Mr. Roosevelt will leave for Washington tomorrow night. The princess will accompany him and return to her $252,000 estate outside the capital.

Princess Martha, who also was the President's house guest on his visit here last week-end, came to Hyde Park aboard a private car. It was understood here the expense of the car was borne by the Norwegian legation from funds collected from Norwegian taxpayers before the German invasion.

Crown Prince in England.

The princess made her first visit here with her husband, Crown Prince Olaf, before the outbreak of the European war. She returned to Sweden, her homeland, with her children when Norway was invaded. The crown prince is in England.

The princess came to the United States after a brief stay in Sweden. She arrived aboard the liner American Legion, which the President had dispatched to pick up American refugees at the Finnish port of Petsamo. A special suite for her accomodation was arranged aboard the ship.

G. O. P. WORKERS APPROVE TEXT OF NEW MANUAL

The organization committee of the Republican national committee yesterday approved the text for a manual of organization which will be submitted to the national body for adoption with a view to distribution in time for its use in the 1942 campaign.

The organization group, including members of the national committee from a dozen states, held its final session at the home of Mrs. Bartley Baur, national committeewoman, at 1511 Astor street, where the members were the guests of Mrs. Baur at luncheon.

Authority was given to Werner W. Schroeder, committeeman for Illinois, and chairman of the group, who prepared the first draft of the manual, to edit the text and put it into shape for presentation to National Chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts. The text will not be made public.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

We women have just got to stop clowning and developing trick facial mannerisms. As a celebrated author pointed out not so long ago, we're beginning to look like a special tribe of sourpusses, making the world a far more unattractive place than was ever intended. What's more, we're getting wrinkles.

The sad thing about wrinkles is that you're stuck with them once they're full fledged. There's no such thing as a remover. There are only preventives—of two kinds. One is control of expression, the other is skin oiling. And of the two control of expression is the most important.

Every single one of us ought to check up on facial mannerisms. Almost all of us squint, or pull down a corner of the mouth, or wrinkle up the forehead, and it's a silly business. Making a face doesn't solve problems, or make us look more interesting, and it does get the muscles into the worst possible habits.

It's very easy to slide into the habit of grimacing; lots of us fool ourselves into thinking it's an interesting trick of self-expression. Serenity of expression is far more beautiful, as any male onlooker would tell you if you asked him, and it makes for far less wear and tear on the facial muscles.

Guard against the habit of frowning. And develop the habit of smoothing out your forehead lines when you are idle. Watch your mouth corners; force yourself to send them up instead of down no matter how glum you feel. And don't squint. Look philosophical for the good of your contours if not of your peace of mind!

Actor Regis Toomey Breaks Film Record with 3 Minute Kiss

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 28 (AP).—Up goes Hollywood's record for the longest movie kiss, and up, too, goes Regis Toomey's blood pressure.

The record is Toomey's—and blonde Jane Wyman's. She explains his blood pressure.

Three minutes five seconds is the new mark. You can figure out how long that is next time you soft boil an egg.

The old record was 56.2 seconds, established a year or so ago by Ann Sheridan and George Brent. Brent, the noted man about town, was visibly shaken at the finish. Toomey made a valiant effort at control.

"This," he grinned manfully, "is the life. What a lovely way to earn a living. All these years I've played pals to leading men and big brothers to leading ladies. This is what I call making up for lost time."

Methodist Women Honor Mrs. Bragg in City Tomorrow

Mrs. J. D. Bragg of St. Louis, Mo., national president of the Woman's Society of Christian service of the Methodist church, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be held in the Bal Tabarin room of the Hotel Sherman tomorrow.

Mrs. Bragg, who will speak at the luncheon, heads what is described as the largest organized group of Protestant women in the United States. The 1,100,000 members of the society raise more than $4,000,000 each year for the support of missionary work here and abroad.

Mrs. Clarence J. Bridgen of Oak Park is general chairman of the luncheon.

Style Experts Praise Winning Tribune Gowns

Leading stylists, merchants, and advertising executives who attended the second annual CHICAGO TRIBUNE Fashions competition style show Saturday evening in W-G-N theater studio had high praise yesterday for the show.

They praised the excellence and wearability of the successful 15 designs modeled. They said that the gowns were completely American, uninfluenced by Parisian trends. Particular praise was given to the winning design, a subtle, ladylike brown, daytime dress entered by Jeanne Sanford of Mount Lebanon, Pa.

Miss Sanford, who has been designing for 11 years and is only 21 years old, was awarded $500 for first prize. Second and third places went to Donald Frist of Clinton, Ind., for a perky fuchsia wool suit, and Lucie Byrne of New York City, for a glamorous ball gown of plaited gold lamé.

"THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE had done an excellent thing in its fashions competition," J. Chalmers O'Brien, publicity director for Carson Pirie Scott & Co., asserted. "It has stimulated American designers to come to the fore and has brought out some fine work. The show revealed that. All of the designs looked like winners. They were praiseworthy not only for their originality and beauty but also for their wearability. Any woman would be proud to wear them."

"The show was wonderful," George Gleason, general manager of Rusek's store, said. "Both my wife and I enjoyed it immensely. The prize winning gown was a beautiful thing, but the suit that placed second was also very clever. I think that THE TRIBUNE has really brought forward some excellent designers and has done a grand job in convincing the American public that American clothes are worth while."

Comments of other executives were:

James Sheldon of Charles A. Stevens & Co.: "I did not attend the show, but I wish I had. My wife went and has been talking of nothing else all day. She said that it was difficult to pick the winners. I think the competition has done a great thing for American designers. I know that after last year's show American designers began to be recognized."

Miss Kathleen O'Grady, advertising manager of Mandel Brothers: "I thought the show was wonderful and I nearly voted for the winner. It was difficult to judge. Such a competition is inspiring. You could see the progress we have been making toward excellent American designing since the last Tribune show. The designs were simple, restrained, and beautiful."

Miss Eunice Murphy, stylist for Gimbel Brothers, Milwaukee, Wis.: "The show this year was excellent, and the gowns had fine ideas behind them. The winning dress was an example of good basic designing. It showed that the American dressmaker can cut a dress as cleverly and subtly as the Parisian. The contest has really done the American public a good turn."

Harry T. Friedman, vice president of Kerman's: "Last evening proved a theory of mine that the American designer is better than those in Paris. We never took anything more than trends from Paris modistes, and at that the designs that came over here had to be modified for the American woman. The designs in the fashions competition show were all excellent and saleable. I hope THE TRIBUNE keeps on sponsoring these contests, because they have brought the American designer out of obscurity."

The original sketches of the winning designs and 58 which were given honorable mention may be viewed in Harmony hall, between the Tribune Tower and W-G-N studios.

Gay Topcoats Arrive with First Chill Day

BY REA SEEGER.

Fall topcoats with snappily cut streamline and almost gaudy colors, are dangerously tempting, not only because of the breezy shades but the modest price marks. The first crisp fall weather brings them out in dozens. Huge plaids with daring clash of colors, solid colors in vermilion, clear-gold, yellows, bright October blues, rusty hennas, and good lusty coppertones run the plaids a good race for fashion supremacy. However, the more subtle bronze greens, the mellow mahogany reds, the sophisticated tobacco browns are slick topcoat contrasts for dark wool daytime dresses as well as suits.

Most of the smartest topcoats are cut and fitted with enviable swank and swagger, especially the plaids, and they need precious little propaganda to make them the best sellers for any shopper's money. Velvet collars, cuffs, and pocket flaps are cooling devices for the more exuberant plaids of gigantic size or brilliant clash of color. On the bright colored wool coats exciting lapels, cuffs, and collars of fur add to all the fun.

Sometimes the linings make the dramatic contrast, as most of the eye blinding plaids are subdued with the interior decorative silk in dark shades. And while you're inspecting the linings take an appreciative look at the many interesting bright colored wool coats with fur linings, making them an ideal all purpose winter coat for any climate, wardrobe or clothes allowance.

The mere fact that partner's bid has been strongly overcalled with no trump is no reason for failing to open his suit, especially when the lead of any other suit involves a sheer guess. In today's hand West learned this lesson at enormous cost.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	1 heart	6 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

A word as to South's extraordinary six no trump bid, South had as a partner a player much weaker than himself both in the bidding and the play of the cards. The orthodox bid on South's part was to jump in diamonds but this, he reasoned, might result in North's playing the hand at no trump, and rather than let that happen he decided to "get there first." Perhaps it was just as well, since it is doubtful that North could have managed the play as South proceeded to do.

West, feeling that a heart lead was pointless after South's terrific jump in no trump, decided to make a "surprise attack," and selected the diamond 10. Declarer rattled off five diamond tricks, discarded one spade from dummy, while East let go three hearts and two spades. A club then was led and passed. East won and returned the heart jack. Declarer finessed, then cashed the ace and king of clubs and, when the jack dropped, played dummy's fourth club. On this lead East could no longer find a safe discard. As it happened, he chose to blank the heart king and then declarer, after discarding his own spade, comfortably cashed the ace and nine of hearts. It would have been equally fatal for East to discard his spade jack, because then declarer would have discarded his own heart nine, cashed dummy's spade ace, dropping the king, then entered his hand with the heart ace to cash the promoted spade queen.

An original heart lead on West's part would have broken up this squeeze. Declarer's heart entries would have been removed before they could have become truly effective for a squeeze position. A spade lead also would have defeated the contract, but rather than guess about a side suit opening, West would have been better advised to lead his partner's bid suit.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Sunday—A long day of swimming, surf fishing, pingpong and pool playing at the Gregory La Cavas', and among the cue sharks are Preston Foster, Eugene Pallette, the host, Adolphe Menjou, and Danny Winkler. Menjou easily cleans up at Kelly at a dime a ball, and nearly tears the table apart when one of his craftily won coins slips under a cushion.

Monday—Lunch at Mike's with Nunnally Johnson and Stanley Young, and Nunnally says some profound things about movie writing. "The form of a scenario can be learned in 20 minutes," he says. "Movie writing is the easiest writing there is—if you are used to telling stories. It's just a series of Western Union telegrams."

Tuesday—To Myron Selznick's beach house for a long session with Myron and find him a fascinating man. He's probably the champ telephone user in Hollywood, and that covers a lot of ground. He has 12 phones in his 9 room house. . . . In the evening to RKO for a screening of Hitchcock's new chiller, "Suspicion," in which Joan Fontaine and Cary Grant are very swell. They are so good, in fact, and the film is so craftily put together, that it seems inevitable that Grant should be killed off in the end. However, there's a compromise finish on it which will arouse a deal of debate.

Wednesday—To Warners', to watch Elliott Nugent do a scene for "The Male Animal" and to hear that Henry Fonda's drunk scene is as funny as it was when Elliott did it on Broadway. Nugent's halfway thru his picture, and when it's completed he'll go to New York to produce an act in "Gold Is Nice, Too." Bob Montgomery, in London, will be his co-producer.

Thursday—To the "Shanghai Gesture" set, a beautiful thing of painted mirrors. It is planned to auction the mirrors around the country for Chinese relief. . . . Odd, the enthusiasm the actors have for Joseph von Sternberg—considering that Joe is always torturing them to the point of mayhem. The only one who talks back to him and gets away with it is Eric Blore. Victor Mature, main target of the Sternberg jibes, is outspoken in admiration for the man. Clyde Fillmore says, "My agent told me I'm lucky to get paid for being in this—that I ought to be paying for the privilege. And darned if I don't think he's right." Funny, isn't it? . . . Then to Tim Whelan's outdoor set, where George Brent and Joan Bennett are doing a remake of "Twin Beds." George, having sold his big boat to the Jack Warners, has bought a smaller one.

Friday—Back to Warners', dragging my wife with me just to make sure I'm not crazy in thinking "One Foot in Heaven" is something special. A half dozen newspaper men, Martha Scott, and Martha's husband, Carlton Alsop, are in the projection room. The picture establishes itself as a thing of unusual genuineness in the opening scene, and has complete possession of you in five minutes. When it nears its stirring climax I think, "O, gosh, the lights are going up in a minute and I'm going to look like a damn fool to these other guys, crying this way." And the lights go up—and every man in the place is weeping. . . . This is rare and wonderful—for there isn't one sad moment in the picture. Rather than being sad, it is often funny and is always spiritually heartening. It's just that it's so perfectly human that it gets you. "One Foot in Heaven" is one of the two finest pictures I have seen in 15 months of Hollywood moviegoing, the other being "Citizen Kane," and it should win a hatful of Academy awards for acting, writing, direction, and music. It's the topper for Fredric March's career.

Saturday—The morning chores, and a deal of writing to do, and then to the USC-Oregon football game.

35 Scholars to Get Honor Degrees at U. of Chicago Today

Thirty-five scientists and scholars will be awarded honorary degrees by the University of Chicago today in ceremonies climaxing the observance of the university's 50th anniversary. The special convocation will be started at 11 a. m. in Rockefeller Memorial chapel.

President and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins were hosts yesterday at a reception for 450 delegates from other institutions attending the eight day academic festival. After the reception the delegates attended the opening of the Del Drago collection of ancient Chinese paintings in the Renaissance society galleries of Goodspeed hall. The exhibit will be open to the public today.

Dr. Lily Bess Campbell, Shakespearean scholar, and Dr. Libbie Henrietta Hyman, noted zoologist, both of whom will receive honorary degrees today, were guests last night at a dinner of the Chicago Alumnae chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary education society, in the Chicago Women's club, 72 East 11th street.

Medal Given to Stock at U. of C. Fete

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Frederick Stock was awarded the Rosenberger medal last night in recognition of the contribution he has made to Chicago's artistic life during the 36 years he has served as conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Also cited was the encouragement he has given to American composers both by word and by deed [that is, by actual performances of their works].

The presentation was made by President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago in Rockefeller Memorial chapel as the climax of a festival concert given by the Chicago Symphony orchestra and assisting artists as part of the university's 50th anniversary celebration.

The ceremony was very brief. After Hutchins had expressed his gratitude to, affection for, and admiration of Stock, the conductor announced that he would show his appreciation not in words but in music. Thereupon he proceeded to conduct a first performance anywhere of an academic festival prelude which is dedicated to the University of Chicago and was written expressly for its 50th anniversary celebration.

The prelude turned out to be a sonorous, gravely jubilant piece whose lofty character and sound and scholarly workmanship make it a fitting tribute to the moral and academic ideals which the university is restating and emphasizing during its present celebrations.

Last night's program consisted almost entirely of the type of noble music proper for so solemn an occasion. There were the Brahms-Haydn variations, the overture to Mozart's "The Magic Flute," "Laudate Dominum" by the same composer, and the air from Bach's third orchestral suite. A lighter, more modern touch

Dr. Stock (right) receiving medal last night from President Hutchins.

—indeed an actually merry and piquant touch—was provided by the Carpenter concertino for piano and orchestra.

In the last named piece, the soloist was Robert Wallendron, a former student of the University of Chicago and now an accomplished pianist and accompanist. In the Mozart "Laudate," Claire Dux, the internationally famous soprano who is now a resident of this city, sang the solo part. The chorus was the University of Chicago choir, Mack Evans, conductor.

Brevity.

The many speeches that have been part of the University of Chicago's 50th anniversary brings to mind the address of a distinguished professor at a dinner some years ago. He was the fourth speaker on the program. The three who preceded him spoke at length and the audience began to fidget and yawn. When the professor finally was introduced he began "My address is . . ." and paused. "Fifty-seven-thirty-six Woodlawn avenue, and I'm going to it right now," he concluded.

AQUARELLE

The blue of sky is yours to hold,
And yours to spend the careless gold
That spills from clouds when day is done;
And sometimes where the blue is deep,
Quite motionless, as if asleep,
A heron stands before the sun.

Now dark the sky within a glass,
Long shadows of the rushes pass,
As thin and sharp as winter frost
Across the sliding stars away . . .
And where the sighing ripples sway
The moon, in lily leaves, is lost.

CLAIRE GOODELL.

Remembered House.

When John Drury was a schoolboy he often passed a white farmhouse with green shutters on Addison street, a small, gable-roofed dwelling that caught his fancy. It was the first old house that interested a boy who grew up to become an authority on old Chicago houses, and the Turner homestead, at 1854 Addison, has a chapter in his new book Old Chicago Houses. The book, dedicated to Carl Sandburg and beautifully printed and illustrated by the University of Chicago Press, is a treasure house of information about Chicago, its houses, and its citizens.

If you've gazed at old mansions, wrapped in mystery and steeped in the associations of other days, and wondered about the inspiration for their architecture and about their builders, Drury's book is the one you have been looking for.

Fittingly, Drury's hobby is symbolized in the interior of his country place in Indiana. Long before he began to write Old Chicago Houses, he had seen the old Dibblee house, which Marshall Field the Chicago merchant, had given his sister as a wedding present, and had admired its interior. It was torn down in 1935, but Mrs. Drury bought from the wreckers woodwork that has gone into the interior of their country home.

Coincidence.

A little colored lad entered the Roosevelt branch of the Chicago public library on West 12th street the other day and asked for a library card.

"Your name?" asked the librarian, bringing out the registry.

"Roosevelt Branch," the boy wrote.

"But I want your name," said the librarian.

Turned out that was his name. His father's name was Branch and he had been christened Roosevelt.

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, young American girl sent by a New York firm to Paris to buy antiques, runs into her cousin, Mrs Hiram Rentrew, a rich widow, who insists Gay stay with her. Soon after Gay moves in, her cousin is taken to a hospital, ill, and Gay is left in the apartment with her cousin's brother-in-law, Horace, an antique dealer, and the servants, Hortense and Manx. Gay visits her cousin in the hospital and runs into Miles Dorsey, a junior partner in the firm that looks after Mrs. Rentrew's affairs; Raoul de Chabenil, handsome gigolo, and Estrella, Mrs Rentrew's dressmaker. Her cousin insists that Gay take her jewel box, with a valuable antique necklace in it, home and put it in the wall safe. That night Gay dines with Geoff and Catherine Macadam, old friends of hers, and Miles Dorsey. They see Raoul and Marretta dining together and Gay learns that Raoul has an unscrupulous reputation. When Gay gets home that night she hears that her cousin had died of a stroke. Horace insists the doctor made a wrong diagnosis and demands an inquest. Gay, unable to sleep, thinks she hears some one in her room and the next morning the jewel box has disappeared. The police become suspicious of Gay and have her trailed. Again Gay senses some one in her room at night. She tries to turn on the light but no light comes on. Some one overpowers her with ether. When she awakes the jewels have been returned. The police hint that Gay was an accomplice, permitting herself to be etherized.

INSTALMENT XIX.

OVERDOSE.

Catherine had something to say, tho she seemed to be starting with an oblique gambit. She couldn't have hauled Miles Dorsey in to talk about a stray key.

"I was wondering, Miles," she said. "Did you tell Gay last night about that girl? You know, the dismissed maid."

"Never occurred to me." He looked most uncomfortable. "Rentrew has the key now. O, yes," he answered my gaze. "A former maid, Alixe Something, brought it along to the office yesterday afternoon. Said she'd found it among her things."

An electric clock makes scarcely any sound. I was hearing Cousin Lou's, right across from the dressing table.

"So you see?" breathed Catherine. "An honest move, perhaps; but keys can be copied. This one opens the front door."

I hadn't moved. "Alixe? She was here Tuesday evening. Hortense mentioned it last night. Do you know why she was sacked?"

"She swears for no reason," said Dorsey. "Her own story, needless to add."

"Yes, quite. Will you give me a cigaret?"

I hadn't noticed his hands till now. I took a good look as he extended his silver case, flicked a serviceable lighter, and held the flame till I'd lit up. Strong hands. Long, supple, blunt ended fingers. Smooth, healthy skin.

Eyes closed, I tried to imagine hands like these groping over my face. Forcing a nauseous pad over my nostrils—clinching in on my throat.

I gagged over the smoke. The cigaret tasted like rank weeds.

"Key or no key," I said evenly, "how would this girl know the jewels were in the safe unless somebody put her wise?"

"Exactly." Miles Dorsey looked at his watch.

"Don't let me keep you," I said. "Not much to be gained by milling this over, is there? Damn! There goes my smoke."

"Don't touch!"

I knew he'd have to brush close when he picked my cigaret from the carpet. Just as his neat, vaguely brown head made the dive I inhaled. I got a whiff of combined odor emanating from hair, clothes, skin. Agreeable, even reminiscent, but distinctive? I couldn't decide.

Quite suddenly I wanted to cry. Instead of which, of course, I laughed, and saw Catherine appraising me.

"That's better, Gay. Miles, she'll have to be told. Hadn't we better do it between us, right now?"

"Told what?" Something stabbed at my heart.

Catherine looked at Miles. He gave her no help. My face burned again.

"What?" I hammered. "For the love of Mike ——"

"Mrs. Rentrew," said Catherine, very low. "The—the post mortem's been done."

"Already? Well?"

"It's extremely queer, Gay. She did die of a stroke. In fact the Medecin Legiste and Dr. Hornton both declare they've scarcely ever seen arteries so hard as hers were. Phenomenal, when you realize that only last year ——"

"I know. What's the snag? There is one, I can see it."

"There is. It seems that within two hours of her collapse she'd had a big dose of a drug. It was this stuff which caused the stroke."

"Drug! You mean poison?"

"Well, yes, in a way. Terribly deadly, anyhow. A drug called benzedrine . . . ."

It was Friday morning, about 11 o'clock. I'd popped my head in the kitchen door to tell Hortense I was going out.

"Hortense," I began, but didn't continue.

Unaccountably flurried she had clapped a silver dish upside down over something on the table and very nippily had planted herself between it and me. She pretended horrified amazement.

"Mademoiselle dressed and in her hat!"

"That's right, and it's quite possible I won't be in for lunch. I've rather a lot to do."

As tho a live thing were under it the silver dish stirred. I edged round for a view—and Hortense edged also.

She dropped her unctiousness to ask me, very nastily indeed, if last night I'd suffered another disturbance. I told her I'd slept well. She then informed me that I couldn't have the car. Manx was using it to drive Monsieur Horace to the bank with madame's jewels.

"I knew that, Hortense. Is yours the right time?"

It wasn't the clock I wanted to see. And this time I was too quick for her. I'd reached the table she was trying to cut off and was getting a good look at the silver dish. Under it, protruding in disorder, crackled a vast pile of French bank notes—mostly of the thousand franc denomination!

"Hortense," I gasped, "what wealth! I wonder you feel comfortable to have it lying about after what's happened."

She cackled insincerely. "Helas, mademoiselle, what you see there is my whole life's savings. I have drawn it all out to make a little investment. It will not be here after today."

Well, it might be true . . .

I went thru the back hallway and along to the front, scouting warily in case Horace had come back. I didn't want any fussy objections to my going out when I had strict orders to remain in bed. The fact was I couldn't stick in this apartment another hour. The atmosphere was getting horribly on my nerves. Out I meant to go—and if I were followed I simply didn't care.

Three minutes later I was leaning back in a blue taxi, praying the world would stop spinning circles before I reached Passy.

Where had Hortense got all those bank notes she didn't want me to see?

Fishy tale! Was it likely she'd draw all that amount out in cash? At rough guess it was 30 or 40,000 francs . . .

O, rot! She didn't get it from any jewel sale. Every precious article was in the case when Horace ticked off the list.

I barred the incident from my mind and thought hard about Cousin Lou.

Murder. Was it that? Blunders do happen, but even in a carelessly run place like the Helen Schuyler I couldn't credit the accidental administration of a lethal drug. That the poor woman had herself swallowed some secret dose seemed too absurd to consider. Of course she might have done it and got the wrong stuff by mistake. In that event the druggist supplying the medicine would be responsible. Well, we'd soon know about that.

The minute I set foot in the Helen Schuyler lobby I felt the change. The dead quiet of an institution thoroly scared and on its best behavior. I had to speak twice to Texas, haggardly busy with a ledger, before she laid down her pen.

"Is it possible," I repeated, "for me to have a word with the nurse who looked after Mrs. Rentrew?"

She didn't answer, only stared.

"I'm her cousin," I explained. "You remember me, don't you? I've come along out to remove a few personal effects which I'm told are still here."

"You must see Matron about that."

Lips a tight line, Texas spoke briefly into the telephone.

Fairly promptly the matron appeared. She showed me into a little flower filled snuggery, heard my flimsy pretext and shook a vixenish head.

"If it's the patient's pearls you refer to, I gave them at once into her brother-in-law's charge."

"Pearls!" I cried, horrified. "Heavens no, I didn't mean them. Clothing and so on that may be in your way. Are the things packed up?"

"I may as well tell you the police are in possession of the room." She was eyeing me with stony mistrust. "Wait here."

I deliberately pretended I hadn't registered this last, and when she marched toward the elevator I was right on her heels. She looked annoyed to find me getting into the elevator with her, but she let me ride up. At the next floor she shouldered in front. I heard her speaking subduedly to some one inside No. 10. Then she returned to say I might take away anything the police office consented to give me.

"Provided you don't object to making your parcel under his supervision."

As if washing her hands of me she turned a stiff back, pausing only to snap a reprimand to a nurse who was passing.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Here's the best picture Sonja Henie's made to date, I think. It has everything with which to intrigue ANY audience—laughter, music [Glenn Miller and his orchestra!] romance, dancing, skating, and a cracking good cast . . . Even Mr. Berle, given nothing with which to be nasty, proves he can right nice.

Miss Henie is seen as a Norwegian refugee who arrives in New York in answer to the band's application for a child to take care of during the war's duration.

The boys had expected a wee bairn . . . Lookit what they got!

The newcomer fastens her affections [and REALLY hooks 'em] onto the piano player [John Payne] who is in love with the singer [Lyn Bari] . . . And now the action skips over from New York to a Sunset Valley skiing resort where the band plays an engagement and which proves the perfect background for Sonja's campaign to win John from Lyn.

She employs all the w. k. feminine wiles. John likes to ski. Lyn doesn't. Sonja is past mistress of the art . . . Write your own from here on. [I DID feel sorry for Lyn. Nice to see her again—she's a swell actress.]

The scenario calls for much singing, varied dances, Miller specials and one of the most beautiful ice skating numbers I have ever seen . . . The cast is strictly aces.

The scenery is just gorgeous! A lot of folks will think it's the best thing about "Sun Valley Serenade."

See you tomorrow.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

Monday, Sept. 29.

Today's vibrations call for care in checking details and in directing properly the course of our thinking; logic may become distorted, facts ignored. Otherwise an excellent day for carrying forward old starts: deal with superiors in evening.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead brings wider scope, more opportunity, if born on this date. Push your personal interests with those who count. Changes, and benefit from past from next May. Danger: Oct. 17-Nov. 22; April 27-May 6; Sept. 12-27.

Better for business than for social pursuits; discriminate.

Loyola Service Guild Lectures Open Tomorrow

The Rev. John La Farge of the Jesuit order, associate editor of "America," will open the 1941-'42 lecture series of Loyola Service guild tomorrow in the Medical and Dental Arts auditorium, 185 North Wabash avenue. His topic will be "Christian Humanism and Its Practical Aspects."

Father La Farge is a graduate of Harvard and the University of Innsbruck.

Other lecturers and the dates on which they will appear are Msgr. Edward J. Flanagan, "Father Flanagan of Boystown," Nov. 5; Dr. Francis J. Tickets Rationed for Lectures on Miniature Rooms

The Art Institute of Chicago announces that only one ticket will be allowed to each applicant for a new series of free lectures on "Design for Living: The American Way." The lectures, arranged by Mrs. James Ward Thorne in connection with the final months of her exhibit of American Rooms in Miniature, will open on Oct. 16. Because of the heavy demand for tickets and the small seating capacity of Fullerton hall, the allotment must be limited.

Sept. 29, 1941.

Universal day—Keep your aims constructive and put plenty of energy into what you do.

October—Those in an eight year ought not to start anything new in October, or at least be sure it is something which can be completed within a short time. This is the tag end, so better let things come to natural conclusion. It should mark a high point in your achievement for the year if you have been up and in there fighting all year. Get rid of things which are no longer useful to you, and you also can eliminate fair weather friends. Hold temper and keep emotions under control. This month will give you a taste of what you may expect your coming year to be like.

Girl, 17, Is Too Young to 'Go Steady'

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The boy is 19. The girl is 17. The girl accepted a ring from the youth, which acceptance he interpreted as giving him sole right to her company. But the girl lied to him one recent evening. He asked her to go somewhere with him. She said she could not because she had to stay home and take care of her younger sister that night. But the boy saw her out stepping with another youth, little sister having been disposed of some other way, if her care were a consideration at all.

The boy, of course, wants to know what he should do now, stop seeing the 17 year old, or tell her he saw her out with another fellow with his own eyes.

Well, son, it wasn't playing billiards for the girl to lie to you. And it does let a youth down terribly when the idol of his heart begins to prove she's not of the dream stuff imagined. However, that girl is only 17, which is a very tender, inexperienced age, and an age at which no binding ring should be set upon a girl's finger. No serious meaning, that is, should be attached to the ring endowing, anyway.

Consequently, we wouldn't go making any scene over the incident. If you feel you have lost faith in the girl, and would just as soon look around elsewhere for another, all right; but if you care for her "deep down," and don't want to lose her as a friend forever, better handle this little problem of yours smoothly. You can tell, and should tell, the girl what you saw and how disillusioning her lying was and that you didn't like it one single bit. In other words, let her know that she can be honest with you, at least. Had she told you she had another date, that would be all right and quite within her province for, as said, the ring should give you no monopoly of her company until she is older and has her mind made up as to what she wants to do.

Frock with Lower Waistline

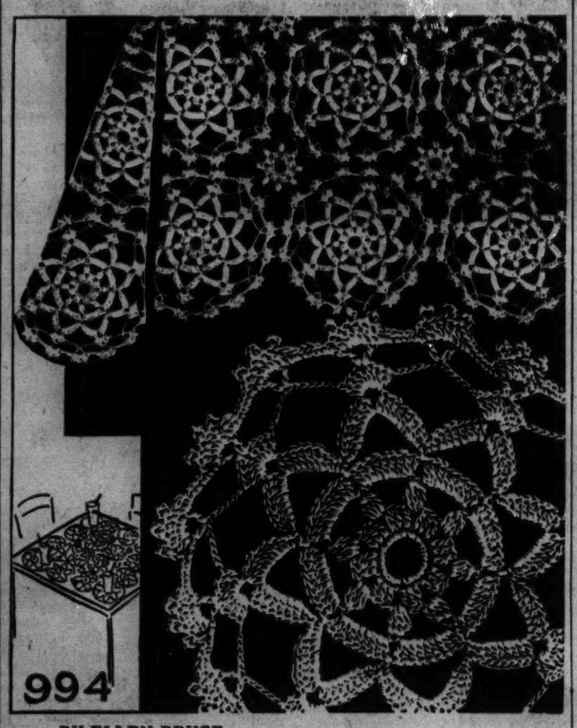
WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

That two-piece look with the new lower waistline is one of the leading fashion news items of the fall season. This model, with a choice of neckline treatment, is a smart version of the current mode.

Style No. 3195 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material for long-sleeved dress, with ⅝ yard of contrasting; 3¾ yards for dress with three-quarter length sleeves.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 337, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly. The fall and winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Crocheted Star Medallion



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted star motifs are popular because of their effectiveness in design and their graceful appearance. This handsome eight pointed star motif is no exception. It is easy to crochet, yet has all the dignity and charm of one of the most difficult needlework pieces. It is one which the beginner may attempt with success.

For instructions in crocheting the eight pointed star medallion for a tablecloth, No. 994, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

A buffet luncheon or supper is built around one important dish, as a rule. Except in summer, it's a hot dish, usually a casserole combination. It should be something that will please everybody, which means that it shouldn't be too "unusual." New tricks and unfamiliar foods may appear elsewhere on the buffet table, but this most prominent dish should have a general appeal.

Spaghetti with chicken livers usually goes over very well on a buffet table, altho there are a few unfortunates who don't appreciate liver in any form. If there be such among your guests, this isn't the dish for your buffet.

Spaghetti with Chicken Livers.
[Serves six.]

½ pound spaghetti
2 tablespoons fat
1 medium onion, chopped fine
2 cups canned tomatoes
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
¼ pound Parmesan cheese
½ pound fresh mushroom, sautéed
1 pound chicken livers, sautéed

Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain and rinse in cold water. Brown onion in hot fat. Add cooked spaghetti, tomatoes, pepper, salt, and cheese. Simmer gently until well blended. Place in a casserole and cover with chicken livers and whole mushrooms, which have been sautéed in butter and seasoned with salt and pepper. Serve hot.

Scalloped oysters should appeal to a big or little crowd.

Scalloped Oysters.
[Serves six.]

1 pint oysters with liquor
1½ cups rolled cracker crumbs
½ cup cream
½ cup melted butter
Salt, paprika

Drain oysters. Pick them over to see that there are no pieces of shell. Combine cream and oyster liquor. Line bottom of buttered casserole with a third of the crumbs. Arrange half the oysters over them. Sprinkle with salt and paprika, pour half the melted butter and half the cream mixture over them. Add another layer of crumbs and the rest of the oysters, with more salt, paprika, butter, and cream. Top with remaining crumbs. Dot with butter and bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes.

A cup of grated cheese may be added to this recipe.

Ham loaf may seem rather ordinary, but it is dearly loved by most persons who attend buffet meals. Besides, this recipe isn't so ordinary!

Baked Ham Loaf.
[Serves six.]

¾ pound ground raw ham
¾ pound ground raw pork
½ green pepper, ground
1 medium onion, ground
½ clove garlic, ground [or omit it]
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 egg, beaten slightly
½ cup top milk or cream
Mushroom sauce

Mix all ingredients except sauce. Pack into greased loaf pan about 4½ by 9½ inches in size. Bake 1½ hours at 350 degrees, moderate oven. Serve hot with fresh mushroom sauce.

Girls Begin Selling Tickets in Loop for China Relief Pageant

Chinese girls dressed in satin brocaded gowns began selling tickets in the loop yesterday for the "Festival of the Dragon," a pageant to be held in Chinatown Oct. 10-12 for the benefit of United China relief. The celebration, being held on the 30th birthday of the Chinese republic, will feature Chinese music, a fashion show, a kangaroo court and rides, game and Chinese booths. The committee in charge from the Chinese Emergency Relief society hopes to realize more than $10,000. Every Chinese merchant in Chicago also has pledged 10 per cent of his gross sales during the pageant.

Chicago Episcopal Diocese to Launch an Extension Drive

A half million dollar extension program will be launched tonight by the Episcopal diocese of Chicago at a dinner for more than 500 clergy and lay leaders of the church to be held at the Furniture Mart restaurant, 666 Lake Shore Drive.

The Rt. Rev. Wallace E. Conkling, bishop of the Chicago diocese; the Rt. Rev. Edwin J. Randall, suffragan bishop; Edward K. Welles, chairman of the drive, and Robert F. Carr, chairman of the special gifts committee, are among the speakers who will present the proposal.

The program, which was accepted by a special convention of the diocese held last June in St. James church, Wabash and Huron streets, calls for an appropriation of $500,000 to be raised thru special gifts and individual subscription. The committee of special gifts has announced that $135,000 has already been raised in cash and pledges for this share of the program.

Beauty by-the-Yard

Distinctive Drapery and Upholstery Fabrics Harmoniously Correlated in Colors and Patterns

Haverhill House, the reproduction toile shown above, is one of those triumphs of production for which Wishmaker's House is famous. We wanted a toile because it was so typical of the Federal period, but found no one in this country equipped to do the delicate hand-etching on copper. The mill that finally attempted it, and discovered a new way to do it, considers it the finest piece of printing ever produced in this country. That's typical of the trail-blazing Wishmaker's House has done in the fabric field. Everything from smooth cretonnes to plushy velvets to beautify your furniture and windows. All fabrics are specially designed and dyed in the exclusive patterns and colors of the Federal American Ensemble. Don't plan new draperies or upholstery without seeing them!

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Despite the tumult and shouting in behalf of Brooklyn's beloved bums, somehow word has leaked out that Joe Louis tomorrow night will make the 19th defense of his heavyweight boxing title against a Yogi man named Lou Nova. Promoter Mike Jacobs, top kick of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, held fast to his prediction today that 50,000 customers will drop $800,000 in the cash box for the 15 round championship match in the Polo Grounds.

The choicer ringside seats will retail for $30. The high rate is explained by Mr. Jacobs' publicity staff on the ground that it gives the show a special touch of importance. The word touch in this instance is beautifully used. But it should be applied to the customers, not to the match. By what quaint standards does this show rate a $30 top when across the river in Yankee stadium on Wednesday there will be a world series battle for $6.60 top that promises to produce more hysteria, excitement, commotion, confusion and agitation from the boxes and bleachers than the prize ring has known since Dempsey's day?

May Be Joe's Last Defense.

The important angle about this match, however, isn't the cost of tickets. It's the fact that this may be the last competitive appearance of one of the greatest figures the sport has produced. Louis soon will trade his ring togs for one of Uncle Sam's service uniforms. He intends to attend two world series games and then start a tour of army camps for six exhibition matches. After that he will come to a decision about enlistment in the army. Both Joe and his managers favor the air corps.

There is some division of opinion as to the outcome of tomorrow night's bout, but there's one thing on which all ring experts agree. Win or lose, Louis will come out of the match perhaps into eventual retirement as the outstanding fighting man of our time. Cain and Abel weren't bad with their dukes and the record books are studded with the achievements of men like Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Johnson, Jeffries, Dempsey, and Tunney. But the 200 pound Negro boy with the trim build and pin cushion lips in popular estimation has overshadowed them all. Dempsey and Johnson, most active of former champions, each defended his title seven times, but Louis already has gone to the post 18 times as a champion. That's a record our generation may never see equaled.

Polishes Off 46 of Foes.

Since Louis walked out of Chicago Stadium as a Golden Gloves champion in 1934 he has had 54 professional fights. Forty-six of his opponents weren't around at the finish. He has been forced to travel scheduled distance only seven times and once he was beaten—when Max Schmeling knocked him out before he [Louis] had won the title.

Nova has had 32 bouts. He won 17 by knockouts, nine by decisions, and was held to a draw four times. He lost a decision to Maxie Rosenbloom in 1938 and was knocked out by Tony Galento in 1939. The Galento defeat put him out of competition almost a year, but he returned east this season to win a decision from Pat Comiskey and to knock out Max Baer.

The weather prediction is for cloudy, cool weather, but if a postponement is necessary the fight will be held over until Wednesday night.

Odds Are 2½ to 1 on Louis.

The odds are 2½ to 1 that Louis will retain his title. They probably would be longer except for the fact that it took the champion 13 rounds to dispose of Billy Conn, an overgrown light heavyweight, his last time out.

Louis will be facing a man of his own size tomorrow night. Nova is half an inch taller and weighs a couple pounds more. His reach is only an inch shorter than the champion's.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 28.—The third decade of football warfare between the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers was launched this afternoon in the same atmosphere of excitement which has marked their previous struggles for supremacy in the National Football league.

And at the finish, George Halas and the big, bad Bears were still on top, tho Curley Lambeau and the Packers made it a hard earned triumph. The Bears, brother, had a fight on their hands, but before amplifying on their rocky road to triumph the score might be in order. It was: Bears, 25; Green Bay, 17.

Bears Bounce Right Back.

The champions, playing the first of their 11 league games, rushed into a 6 to 0 first quarter lead, built it to 15 to 0 in the second quarter, then saw it fade to 15 to 10 when the Packers put on a devastating air attack which netted a touchdown and a field goal in the last four minutes of the half.

Before the dazed champions could pull their game together, the Packers, while 24,876 delirious fans rose screaming from their seats, smashed and passed their way to a touchdown which tacked a 17 to 15 deficit on the Bears in the third quarter.

Then this 1941 team which is carrying on the tradition of last year's champions showed its mettle. Fifty seconds after surrendering the lead the Bears came back with a touchdown. They then survived strong pressure from the Packers, and Bob Snyder, who had kicked the first field goal, returned to the game with three minutes left. Again he aimed one over from thirty-four yards out. This gave the champions an eight point lead, sufficient protection against the enemy drive for a touchdown, which was stopped on the final play of the game after the Packers had flown to the 5 yard line on passes by Cecil Isbell.

After kicking his second field goal, Snyder was injured tackling Hinkle and it was feared he had suffered a cracked bone in his right shoulder. X-ray pictures will be taken tomorrow morning in Chicago.

There'll Be Another Day!

It was a triumph of power, with a minimum of passes, over the Packers' passing game. The Bears tried only six passes and completed one for a touchdown. But their backs, the big ones and the small, fast ones, hammered into the Packer line and around the ends for 258 yards. Green Bay could make only 77 yards thru the champions' burly forward wall. The Packers, except for that brief flurry late in the first half when the Bear line yielded, staked everything

Louis Meets a Yogi Man

In the WAKE of the NEWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Who is this Lou Nova who tomorrow night will meet Joe Louis for the world's heavyweight championship? What kind of a fellow is he? This may be as good a time as any to talk about him, because in another 48 hours he may be just another member of the "I Met Joe Louis club." . . . Born in Los Angeles in 1914, Nova has earned his way to a title bout after six years of professional fighting against an assorted collection of round heels, stuffed shirts, and fair to middlin' performers. . . . His record includes a defeat by Tony Galento, who was maneuvered into pugilistic prominence by his overindulgence in beer, thru managerial chicanery, and violation of almost every rule of training, and one by Maxie Rosenbloom. . . . He has been held to draw decisions by Bob Pastor and Lee Ramage. . . . His second victory over Max Baer, which was accomplished this year, is his most notable achievement. . . . Nova has yet to be tested in the fires of punishment. . . . Up to now he never really has been in a tough spot. . . . Nobody can say whether he can take it. . . . We'll know about that tomorrow night, because no man has climbed into the ring with Louis and escaped without enduring a sound physical beating. . . . Joe's left jabs hurt an opponent as much as most fighters' right crosses. . . . And those straight lefts keep blazing away with monotonous regularity. . . . One thing you get in Louis' bouts is action. . . . Nobody comes away with a pain in the neck, unless possibly his opponent. . . .

Nova learned boxing fundamentals at San Francisco's Olympic club, where Jim Corbett, Fidel LaBarba, and other famous fighters put in their schooling. . . . He climaxed his amateur career with a victory over Otis Thomas, former Chicago Golden Glover, in the finals of the national AAU tournament in St. Louis in 1935. . . . He became a professional a few months later. . . . If Nova wrests the heavyweight crown from Louis, the ring will have a champion of whom it probably will be proud. . . . Nova, who first wanted to be a football player at Sacramento Junior college, adheres strictly to training rules. . . . In 1937 he eloped to Yuma with Miss Hertha Robbins, daughter of a botany professor at the University of California. . . . They have a daughter 2½ years old. . . . At the risk of alienating the pugilistic fraternity we feel obliged to make known that Nova likes to read poetry. . . . WILLIAMS ENDS SEASON WITH .405 AVERAGE Gets Six Hits as Red Sox, Macks Divide.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 28 (AP).—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox today became the first American leaguer to hit .400 for a season since 1923, when Harry Heilmann batted .403 for Detroit. Bill Terry was the last National league player to turn the trick, batting .401 for the Giants in 1930.

Making six hits in eight times at bat while the Red Sox and Athletics split a double header, Williams finished with a mark of .4057. He started the day with an average of .39955. He played in 143 games during the season, getting 185 hits in 456 times at bat.

Boston Wins Opener.

Boston won the first game, 12 to 11, and the second was called on account of darkness after eight innings with the A's on top, 7 to 1.

Williams made his 37th home run and three singles in five chances in the opener, and a double and single in three attempts in the second encounter.

During the season he batted in 120 runs, scored 135 runs, and walked 151 times. He struck out 26 times. He is the sixth American leaguer to bat .400. Napoleon Lajoie, Joe Jackson, Ty Cobb, George Sisler, and Heilmann were the others.

A's Get 9 in Fifth.

The first game saw the Red Sox come from behind after the A's scored nine runs in the fifth inning. A six run rally put Boston in the running in the seventh inning, and two ninth inning runs on Charley Wagner's single finished the job.

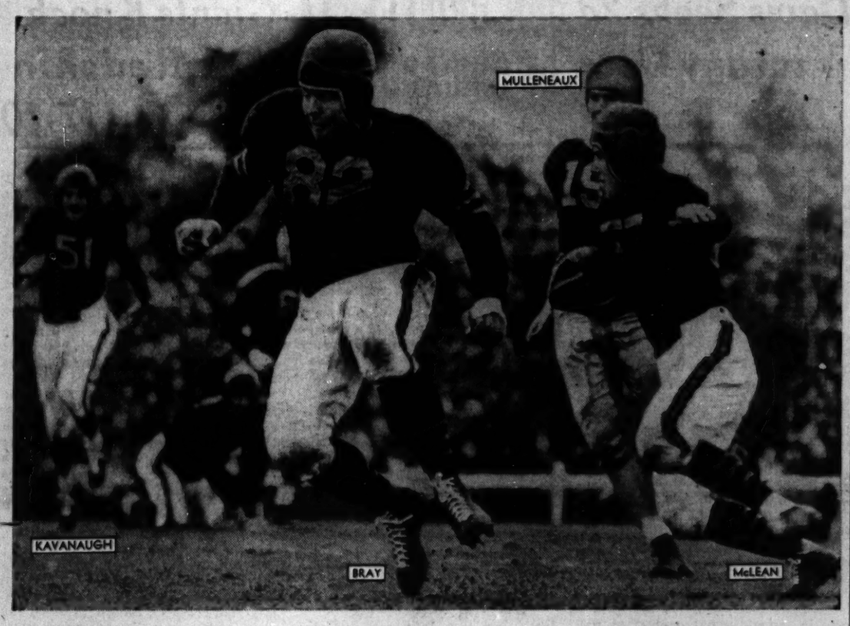
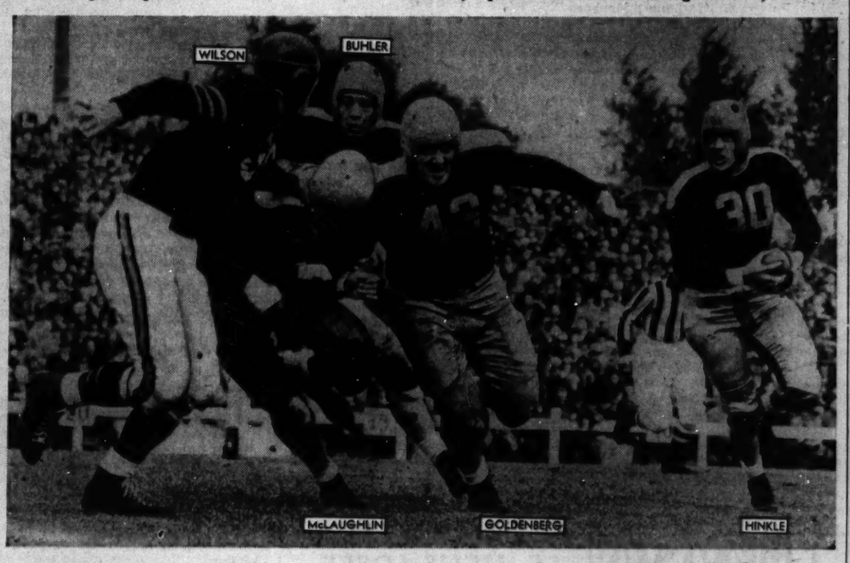
Seib Wins Central AAU 3 Mile Race; Gladding 2d

Robert Seib, competing for the Champaign Business Men's association, outsprinted teammate Donald Gladding on the home stretch at Calumet park yesterday to win the Central AAU three mile championship and the East Side Chamber of Commerce trophy. The winner's time was 15:37.8. Clarence Dunn, Central district five mile champion, came in third. Dunn also hails from Champaign. Max Lenover of Loyola trailed in fifth place, behind Robert Rehberg, former Morton star and state half mile champion.

It's Never One Sided When Bears Play Packers



Ray McLean, Chicago Bears' back, gains 17 yards early in first quarter against Packers in Green Bay. The Bears' power proved more than a match for Green Bay's pass attack and the Chicagoans won, 25 to 17.



Clark Hinkle, Packers' full back, picks up three yards in a drive at tackle. The Packers' passes gave them a 17 to 15 lead early in the third period, but the Bears roared back for a touchdown in this quarter and added a field goal in the final period. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Power Doesn't Tell Full Story of Yanks; They Can Field, Too

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 28.—The Yankees, those big, bad men who are about to plunge into their fifth world series in six years, have a way all their own. In fact, they have several ways of handling a baseball job. To speak of the Yanks is to speak of power, the kind that explodes a homer in the face of the enemy just when it hurts the most. The batting power is what you read about and it's what their foes think about in advance, but that is merely one phase of their ability. They're fielding fools and make no mistake about that.

There is an old baseball theory that a good team must be strong thru the middle, meaning from the catcher to the pitcher to the second base combination, and so on out to center field. Theirs is a life line not only strong defensively but on offense. The Yanks' skill, however, isn't limited to that line. It branches out into almost all of the other positions to make a machine that three-quarters of the time is almost invincible. Does the Dodger middle line of Mickey Owen, a pitcher, Billy Herman, Peewee Reese and Pete Reiser rate with that composed of Bill Dickey, a pitcher, Joe Gordon, Phil Rizzuto and Joe DiMaggio?

The Yanks this year proved there is something to the theory under discussion. Joe McCarthy started the season with his Kansas City sensations, Rizzuto and Gerald Priddy guarding the territory adjacent to second base. Gordon was moved from second to first base. The Yanks merely stumbled around during the first month of the race. Convinced that his judgment was wrong, McCarthy went back to the old order.

Gordon, probably the most spectacular second baseman in the game, took over at the spot where he had become famous. His amazing defensive skill wasn't of any value to him, or the Yanks, as a first baseman. Frankie Crosetti was taken from the bench and restored to shortstop. Before the experiment with Gordon had had time to prove itself a flop, Babe Dahlgren had been released. Thus the only choice was to place Johnny Sturm, also a Kansas City graduate, at the front door. Sturm isn't exactly McCarthy's idea of a Yankee star, but with so much strength elsewhere mediocrity in one position wasn't much of a handicap.

A Miracle Is Worked.

Sending Gordon back to second and Crosetti to short worked an overnight

FORWARD IN PEACE

In a speech on Oct. 28, 1940—just before his third term election—President Roosevelt said:

"By the Neutrality Act of 1935 and by other steps . . . we made it clear to every American and to every foreign nation that we would avoid becoming entangled (in war) thru some episode beyond our borders. These were measures to keep us at peace. And thru all the years of war since 1935 there has been no entanglement and there will be no entanglement . . . we shall continue to go forward in firm faith. We shall continue to go forward in peace."

4 IN BIG NINE WIN AS TWO RUN INTO SURPRISE LOSSES

Indiana, Purdue Beaten; Minnesota Carries On.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Defeats of Indiana and Purdue football teams constitute the first surprises of the 1941 campaign. Offsetting these as far as Western conference prestige is concerned, was Michigan's complete mastery of Michigan State, Ohio State's victory over Missouri, Iowa's success against Drake, and Minnesota's triumph over the University of Washington.

Indiana's sophomore squad was a question mark going into the inaugural battle with the University of Detroit. The Hoosiers' attack managed a tying touchdown in the third period. Then their air defense, after Bill Hillenbrand's fourth quarter fumble in mid-field, collapsed and two successive Titan passes covered 47 yards for a 14 to 7 victory.

Indiana at least had the satisfaction of scoring and threatening to win but Purdue's veterans, highly regarded as a dark horse in the Big Nine title chase, were held impotent by Vanderbilt. The invading Commodores negotiated a first period field goal which was the only successful offensive maneuver in a drab game. Vanderbilt netted 122 yards by rushing while Purdue gained only 78 yards. Both teams gained 36 yards by passes.

Minnesota Back Field Change.

Minnesota began defense of its undefeated record by whipping Washington, 14 to 6, thus sweeping the four game series with the Huskies. Capt. Bruce Smith, the Gophers' left half, continued at the offensive pace of 1940. Surprise changes in the starting Minnesota lineup sent Bob Sweiger, full back, to right half where Sophomore Herman Frickey was supposed to play, and sent Sophomore Bill Garnaas to blocking quarter back.

Minnesota now has two weeks to prepare for its opening conference game, in Minneapolis on Oct. 11 against Illinois. The Illini open their schedule this week at home against Miami University of Ohio. The Gophers' conference schedule is Illinois, Michigan, Northwestern, Iowa, and Wisconsin with two more non-conference games against Pittsburgh and Nebraska. Northwestern, ranked as a contender, opens play this week in Evanston with Kansas State.

Wolverines Prove Merit.

Michigan proved its merit Saturday by trouncing Michigan State, 19 to 7. The veteran Wolverine line, with sophomore assistance in reserve guards and at right end, outplayed the Spartans except for Jack Fenton's seventy-four yard touchdown run in the first period and a fourth quarter march that finally failed on Michigan's 9 yard line when a fourth down forward pass by Wyman Davis was incomplete in the end zone.

Julius Franks and Mervin Pregulman, guards; John Karwales, left end; Tom Kuzma and Paul White, half backs, are the Michigan newcomers. All passed their initial tests satisfactorily. This week the Wolverines open conference play at Ann Arbor with Iowa. The Hawkeyes started a second team against Drake Saturday and finished the first period tied at 6 to 6, trailed 8 to 6 in the next, but won handily 25 to 8. Jack Kennedy, sophomore half back, performed to advance notices.

Hoosiers May Test Irish.

Paul Brown, Ohio State's new coach, and the Buckeye squad got away to a successful start by whipping Missouri, 12 to 7. Lin Houston, at right guard, was the only sophomore in the Buckeyes' starting lineup.

Angelo Bertelli, left half back, was the one sophomore in Notre Dame's opening lineup as the Irish smashed Arizona, 38 to 7, for an initial victory under Frank Leahy and the new Irish coaching staff. Apparently Notre Dame will use an open attack featured by passes from variations of the fundamental Notre Dame formation. Despite Indiana's defeat by Detroit, the Hoosiers will give Notre Dame a more complete test Saturday than many may suspect.

Snyder's 2d Field Goal Clinches Verdict.

on passes. They completed 14 out of 28 for 217 yards.

So tonight it was the same old story. The Bears are leading the western division and the Packers have suffered their first defeat. There will be another day, tho, Nov. 2, when these fellows from the north country will go to Chicago for another try.

After sparring in the first quarter, the Bears struck in characteristic style. The Bears brought back a punt to their 46 and picked up fifteen yards on a Green Bay penalty. Then on third down, Sid Luckman lateraled to Bill McAfee, who wound up with his left arm and pitched a long one which Ken Kavanaugh caught on the 7 and carried over. Snyder's kick for the extra point was blocked.

The Bears had the ball on their 24 yard marker when the first quarter closed. After hitting center for four yards, Bill Osmanski bolted off right tackle for thirty-two yards and a fifteen yard penalty against the Packers for unnecessary roughness put the ball on their 25. On third down, after short gains, Snyder made the first of his valuable placements from the 25 yard line.

McLean Goes Thru Center.

The sixty yard Chicago touchdown swoop came midway in the second quarter. Ray McLean started it with a fifteen yard burst around his left end, then hit left tackle for six. Norman Standlee, who was impressive in his league debut, slapped at left guard for two yards, then drove over right tackle for a first down on the Packers' 33. Swisher barged around right end, shook off tacklers and finally was stopped after a twenty yard profit. Then McLean, on a quick opening, darted thru center for the score. Lee Artoe's kick for the extra point was low.

After the ensuing kickoff over the goal line, eight passes in succession netted the Packers a score. All were thrown by Isbell. Three were caught by Don Hutson. From the Bears' 45 Isbell passed ten yards to Hutson, who wrenched loose from two tacklers and ran the remaining thirty-five yards. Then Don kicked the extra point.

After the kickoff a fumble by Standlee was recovered by Hal Van Every on the champion's 25 and on fourth down Clarke Hinkle kicked a field goal from 40 yards away. Seconds later the half ended.

Green Bay Takes Lead.

A power attack early in the second half sent Green Bay from its 40 to the Chicago 31, with Lou Brock, Isbell, and Hinkle alternating. Then Isbell passed to Hutson to the 16 and the Bears took time out. Hinkle, however, cut back from an end run to the Bears' 8 and a holding penalty put the ball four yards from the goal. Hinkle bolted around right end to the 1 foot line, then drove over the left side on the next play. Hutson's kick made it 17 to 15 against the Bears.

Thereafter McAfee took the kick on the goal line and darted fifty-one yards up the field. Osmanski pounded thru right tackle for twenty-three. Nolting slipped thru center on a quick opening for thirteen and McAfee sprinted around left end for the score. Four plays—a touchdown. Joe Stydahar added the extra point.

There were alternate fumbles and interceptions and the Packers were down there 12 yards from a touchdown as the third quarter ended. Then came the break of the game. On fourth down Hinkle, trying to pass, was slammed down on Chicago's 31. Later Ed Kolman recovered Tony Canadeo's fumble after the Packers had come back to Chicago's 22.

Snyder's Kick Clinches It.

Off went the Bears again, but Bob Swisher fumbled on the Packers' 18 after bolting thru center for twenty yards. Isbell then fumbled and Ray Bray recovered on Green Bay's 30. On fourth down Snyder made the kick which clinched the game. It was Danny Fortmann who intercepted that last desperate Green Bay pass.

2 New Yachts Are Victors in Final Regatta

Scimitar and Onaway, two Chicago yachts competing on Lake Michigan this year for the first time, were the major winners of the Chicago Yacht club's annual Commodore Sheldon Clark trophy regatta yesterday. The regatta was sailed off Chicago harbor by 33 craft representing all Chicagoland sailing clubs. It was the last open regatta of the season here.

Best elapsed time for the fleet was Scimitar's 1 hour 10 minutes and 38 seconds. The course was a 10 nautical mile triangle. Scimitar, a 49 foot Q class sloop, is owned by Fred Spencer, William Faurot, and Charles Deere Wiman. The yacht won its class, the Q, 8 meter, and 10 meter, with a corrected time of 59:50.

Onaway, Samuel C. Pirie Jr.'s yawl, covered the course in 1:12:50, corrected to 1:02:36, the best of the entire cruising division. The yawl also won in the B cruising class.

Summaries:

Hummer, Bob Brandebury's Star class sloop, won the last race of the Jackson Park Yacht club's Star fleet for the 1941 season yesterday off Jackson park harbor. Hummer's time was 1:40:00. Altara, R. A. Hess' entry, finished one second later, and Skedaddle, Fleet Captain James Elsworth's sloop, was third in 1:40:59. Skedaddle won the Herbert cup, season championship award, with a final score of 59 points for the nine race series. Hermes, Dr. Alex Davis' boat, was runner-up with 53 points.

Davis Seeks 2d Victory Over Dubs Tonight

Bill Davis, hard fighting junior welterweight of Minersville, Pa., who beat Harvey Dubs a month ago, will attempt to make it two in a row over the Windsor, Ont., boxer in a return bout of 10 rounds in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

The 19 year old Pennsylvanian is confident of defeating Dubs again despite the fact Harvey dealt him his first knockdown in their previous meeting. The embarrassment occurred in the fourth round. Dubs also opened a cut on Bill's left eye in the 10th. Since that appearance, Davis conquered Sammy Julian in Wilmington, Del., Sept. 17.

Chuck Hurst, Detroit welterweight, who knocked out Harry Eagles in a recent encounter in the north side club, will return for a five round semi-windup against Johnny Rozina of Milwaukee. Rozina won his last three matches, beating Tad Di Loreto, Johnny O'Hara, and Mike Sopko. Johnny Crane and Vince Calzaretta, local light heavyweights, are principals in an additional contest of five rounds.

Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, will meet Selman Martin of Chicago in an eight round bout in Civic Center stadium, Hammond, Wednesday night. Petersen owns a victory and a draw over Martin in previous matches.

SRO SIGN WILL BE POSTED SOON AT NOTRE DAME

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 28 [Special].—The Georgia Tech-Notre Dame game at Atlanta Oct. 11 is a sellout, it was announced today by Robert M. Cahill, assistant business manager of athletics. The Notre Dame allotment for the Army game Nov. 1 was exhausted last week, altho a few are on sale at West Point.

Cahill also stated that a sellout announcement on the Northwestern game at Evanston Nov. 5 is likely within a few days. Sales for Indiana here Saturday, Illinois here Oct. 25, and Southern California here Nov. 22 are running ahead of comparable games two years ago. A crowd of between 40,000 and 45,000 is expected for the Indiana game.

DON GRIFFEE, 14, OF CHICAGO WINS ELGIN BIKE RACE

Fourteen year old Don Griffee of Chicago yesterday won the 15th annual Elgin to Chicago bike race in the fast time of 2 hours and 45 minutes.

Don Griffee.

Don, a member of the George F. Barrett Athletic club, which sponsors the event, rode against a strong wind over the 65 mile course. He collapsed after the race, but 10 minutes later walked, with the aid of two policemen, to the judges' stand where he was greeted by Attorney General George F. Barrett, sponsor of the club, and was presented with the winner's trophy by Mrs. Barrett.

Bad Tire Stops Champion.

The race was witnessed by more than 125,000 persons and by 25,000 at the finish line.

Marvin Thompson, 1941 national champion and also a member of the George F. Barrett Athletic club, was unable to finish when a tire blew out. Erwin Pesek of the CYO won first prize for time. He finished in 2 hours and 35 minutes.

The riders started in four groups. Pesek was among the last group to take off, leaving Elgin 21 minutes after Griffee. Jack Busch of Kenmore, finished second among the time placers and Mike Abt of Harvard, Ill., was third.

Fourteen Riders Place.

Fourteen place riders finished behind Griffee in the following order: Dan Smith, unattached, second; Richard Hansen of the Descamps Cycle Sports club; George Hensel of Descamps; George Goble, unattached; Chris R. Klein, unattached; George Johnson, unattached; Ralph Mizar, unattached; Greg Smith of St. Louis; Frank Brilando of the George F. Barrett Athletic club; Ralph F. Lehnhardt of the George F. Giants Knock Off Redskin Eleven, 17-10

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28 (AP).—The New York Giants displayed too much power on the ground for Washington and turned back the Redskins, 17 to 10, today before 35,677 in the first National Football league game of the season in the nation's capital.

Andy Marefos, a recruit from St. Mary's college of California; Tuffy Leemans, a veteran of the pro grid wars, and Leonard Eshmont, a giant freshman from Fordham, sparked the New York attack.

The Giants struck midway in the first period when Leemans intercepted one of Sammy Baugh's passes on the Redskin 25 yard line, went to the 9 on a pair of line attempts, sent a reverse to Eshmont for another three yards and finally passed to Jim Poole for the first touchdown. Ward Cuff place kicked the extra point.

Filchock Runs 67 Yards.

George Franck's punt was partially blocked by a pair of Redskin linemen in the second period. Frank Filchock, who had replaced Baugh, grabbed the ball on his own 33 and raced sixty-seven yards for a touchdown. Willie Wilkin, Washington's 260 pound tackle, turned in some fine blocking in paving the way for Filchock.

In the third period Marion Pugh, one of the stars of the 1940 Texas A. and M. eleven, lateraled to Marefos on the Giant 40 yard line. Marefos dropped far back of the line and rifled a pass to Vincent Dennery, a rookie from Fordham, who galloped for a touchdown behind some brilliant interference. Marefos added the extra point with a place kick.

Both teams resorted to line offensives in the final period. Franck, Leemans, and Cuff engineered a Giant drive that went deep into Washington territory, the Redskins halting the attack on the 14 yard line. Cuff booted a perfect placement from that point to give the New Yorkers 3 more points.

Cuff Halts Filchock.

In the closing minutes Filchock, on a pass attempt, was unable to locate a receiver, found an opening, and raced from his own 39 yard line to the New York 10. He stumbled at midfield, regained his balance, and was headed for a touchdown when Cuff knocked him out of bounds. Wilkin again turned in some fine blocking on the play. Three line attempts brought the Redskins to the Giant 3, then Masterson kicked a field goal.

Leo High school established itself as the team to beat for the south section crown in the coming Catholic league football race by turning back De Paul, 20 to 0, yesterday on Shewbridge field.

St. George, shifted to the south section this season, also prepared for its league opener by rallying in the final period to win from Loyola academy, 18 to 12, on the latter's field. St. Ignatius edged out Marquette High of Milwaukee, 7 to 0, in Key Branch stadium and De La Salle came home from Hammond, Ind., with a 7 to 0 victory over Catholic Central.

In turning back De Paul, Leo scored one touchdown in the second period and two in the third. Henry Baranowski scored the first touchdown when he returned a punt ninety yards.

The winning St. George touchdown was made in the closing minutes of play when Don Edwards raced fifty-five yards. He also scored in the first quarter on a right end run from the 8 yard stripe.

A seventy-eight yard run by Tony Spina in the second period provided St. Ignatius with its winning margin over Marquette High of Milwaukee.

With three minutes remaining to play, Pat Regan plunged over from the 1 yard line, after a seventy yard drive, to give De La Salle its winning touchdown over Catholic Central.

LIVELY COMPANY

Wake Book fans are finding fresh enjoyment breezing thru the contributions of their old favorites. And they're discovering new ones, too. They're entertained by the shrewd philosophy of Jazbo of Old Dubuque, and they're charmed with the verses of T. E. B., Hilda Butler Farr, W. J. Griffith, and many others. The staccato wisecracks of Eddie Drake, Em Aich Dee, Vraisemblance, Joseph Charles Salak, and kindred wits sharpen up every page.

Those who haven't made the acquaintance of this lively company may do so today by stopping at any newsstand and asking for a copy of the new "In the Wake of the News" book. Ten cents on the stands, 13 cents by mail. Address orders to Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street.

DICK TRACY—The Missing Poke

WALLS ARE SAFE WHEN CUBS AND SOX WAGE WAR

BY EDWARD BURNS.

This being the second piece in a series about the White Sox and the Cubs it would seem a dandy place to compare the White Sox's individual batsmen with the Cubs' wood wielders.

As recited yesterday, the teams are only two points apart in team hitting. The Cubs have Bill Nicholson and Babe Dahlgren, who are high in homers and runs batted in, and Stan Hack, who leads the league in number of hits. The Sox have Taft Wright and Luke Appling, who are well over the .300 mark. But neither team has a batter who can be relied upon to make one hit on any given day or in any one series.

One Important Blow.

Bob Scheffing of the Cubs made only one homer all season but it came with the bases full in the ninth inning of a game in St. Louis recently. If there was one hit that could be said to have decided the National league championship, it was that smack of Scheffing's. But we see no way to forecast that Scheffing will knock a ninth inning homer with the bases loaded and the score tied during the impending city series.

Thornton Lee, in beating Cleveland, 2 to 1, for his 21st victory of the year, scored the tying run and made a double and a single for one third of the Sox's hits. But there is no reason to say that he will outhit Claude Passeau, Swede Erickson, Vern Olsen, or whatever Cub pitcher he hooks up with in the city series.

Here's Dope Sheet.

Maybe you want to write your own statistical dope sheet. Here is the dope on the two batting arrays in so far as they concern gents who might make a hit when it counts in the city series:

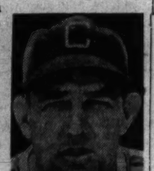
LEE WINS 22D AS SOX FINISH IN THIRD PLACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—The White Sox, who finished in a fourth place tie with the Boston Red Sox in the American league standing last year, will take third place money this season.



Thornton Lee.

Before 12,000 shivering fans in Briggs stadium today the Sox defeated the Tigers, 3 to 0, in the final game of the year, and the victory gave the Sox third place.

Three Sox players were the recipients of hearty hand shaking after the game—Thornton Lee, Bob Kennedy, and Taft Wright—and they deserved all the honors.

Lee Tough in Pinches.

Lee yielded the Tigers a half dozen hits to chalk up his 22d victory, three less than Cleveland's Bobby Feller won. It was Lee's sixth straight triumph over the Tigers this season.

The winning hit was provided by Kennedy, who also turned in one of the outstanding plays seen in Briggs stadium this year to kill the Tigers' best chance to break into the scoring column. Both teams had gone scoreless for five innings. Then in the sixth Luke Appling, leading off, singled to center. Wright popped out and Kreevich grounded out and up came Kennedy. The third baseman lifted a high fly back of Frank Croucher. The shortstop ran out to get under it and left fielder Rip Radcliff came in for it, but the ball, which should have been caught easily by one or the other, dropped to the ground and Appling came home with the winning run.

Wright Hits Homer.

Taft Wright, who previously had contributed a single and a double to the Chicago attack, made sure of the game by hitting a homer in the eighth, scoring behind Appling, who had walked.

Power Alone Doesn't Tell Story of Yanks

miracle. With this pair guarding the middle line the Yanks began to roll. It didn't take them long to blast the pennant hopes entertained by the Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox. Eventually, Crosetti was placed on the side lines by an injury, so Rizzuto went back to short. He was a different ball player than when yanked along with Priddy back in May. What made him a different player? It was the presence at his side of the peerless, experienced Gordon. What permitted the Yanks to turn in 194 double plays this year tying the major league record? It was the air tight second base combination.

Reese Jittery During Drive.

The Dodgers' purchase of Billy Herman from the Cubs welded together a none too steady infield, but for world series purposes this steadiness can't be taken for granted. The 21 year old Reese was so jittery during the pennant drive that the club furnished him company in the form of a morale officer, a scout who had fathered him before he came to the big league. Even Leo Durocher, the Dodger boss, concedes that Reese may crack wide open under the series strain. You can't do that and expect to beat the Yanks.

What of Reiser in the Dodgers' center field precinct? The youngster proved good enough to set the pace for the National league hitters. With deer's legs he gets around in the outfield as well as around the bases. Is he, too, going to work himself up into such a fret that his every day efficiency will be cut in half the instant he sees a Yankee uniform?

Then There's Joe DiMaggio.

In detailing the Yankee assets it is hardly necessary to mention Joe DiMaggio as one of them. Like most of his mates the winning of pennants and world series to him is only ordinary business. When the Dodgers see the San Francisco Italian they'll see just about the most finished outfielder the game has known in years. What he can't do on the ball field can't be done.

It is almost safe to say that the edge DiMaggio holds over Reiser extends to the other positions in the Yankee outfield. Charley Keller, a recent invalid, expects to take a hand as left fielder. No one has forgotten the murderous hitting he did in the 1939 series with the Reds. Opposite him, will be Joe Medwick, but Ducky isn't the boy he used to be, either as a runner or hitter. Dixie Walker was of great value to the Dodgers in their pennant thrust, but even he can hardly be figured to shade Tom Henrich in right field.

Figures Furnish a Clue.

Figures don't always furnish the correct clue on the outcome of a short series, but there are times when they prove reliable, especially when one contender is a standout. Take some of the Yanks' figures for the race which closed today. DiMaggio drove in 125 runs, Keller 122, and Gordon 83. Henrich drove in 85. Dickey's bat shoved 71 across the plate.

The leading Dodger in this respect was Dolph Camilli, the first baseman who also topped his team in homers. He accounted for 120 runs, whereas Sturm of the Yanks was practically nil in this feature of offense.

Yet the Dodgers as a team had a hitting mark a shade above that of the Yankees. This means the Yanks score heavily on a minimum of hits. That's where their power enters the setup. Four or five of them are likely to hit a homer on top of enemy mistakes, such as errors or passes. That's the stuff that gets 'em their runs. This season they piled up approximately 50 more homers than the Dodgers. And remember that in the Brooklyn park DiMaggio will have an attractive left field wall at which to aim. He doesn't have that in his own field where he repeatedly sees 400 foot drives descend into the hands of outfielders.

Cubs Lose to Cardinals, 3-1, in Last Game

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs made one run on 10 hits yesterday in their National league final, but the one run left them on the wrong end of a 3 to 1 count. The Cardinals, who made one earned and one unearned run off Rookie Russ Meers and one unearned run off Paul Erickson, accomplished their 12th victory of the season in competition with the Cubs.

Yesterday's victors made only six hits, but were helped along by three Chicago errors. Five of the hits were off Meers, a lefty from Nashville and resident of Danville, Ill., four of them coming in the fifth inning for the Cards' only earned run.

Hack Makes 185th Hit.

Stan Hack hit safely his first two times up, thus lifting his total hits for the season to a plump 185. Bill Nicholson, the other Cub whose name has appeared among league leaders thruout the season, had two chances to boost his runs batted in to the coveted 100, but had to settle for the total reached Saturday, 98.

Dom Dallassandro, who led the double suckers around the middle of the season, made his 35th double to open the second inning.

City Series Comes Near.

The winning pitcher was Ed Beazley, also a Southern association rookie. Most of the Cardinals went to St. Louis, but there is to be no city series between the Cards and Browns. The Cubs remained in Chicago to gird for the series with the White Sox, which opens in Wrigley field Wednesday. Score:

New York, Sept. 28 (AP).—Sid Hudson blanked the Yankees with four hits to gain his 13th victory today as the Washington Senators beat New York, 5 to 0.

Morgenthau Scheme Firmly Assailed at Convention Forum.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Thousands of business enterprises would be destroyed if a 6 per cent ceiling on profits were forced thru congress by the Roosevelt administration, delegates to the American Bankers association convention were told last night.

The scheme to put an arbitrary 6 per cent limit on corporation profits was revealed for the first time last week by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau when he appeared before the senate financ committee to testify in support of the administration's price control. The Morgenthou plan, which came as a shock to the house and senate, is by far the most drastic tax proposal that has yet been made by the administration. Comments from the members of congress forecast a storm of opposition to the scheme.

Proposal Is Criticized.

The Morgenthau plan was roundly criticized during a forum discussion last night at the Stevens hotel in which several leading bankers participated. The discussion, held on the eve of the formal opening of the convention today, was broadcast over a national hookup thru W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Participating in the forum were Mark A. Brown, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, Chicago; W. Randolph Burgess, vice chairman of the National City Bank of New York; Russel Kent, vice president of the Bank of America, San Francisco; Bradley D. Nash, financial consultant of the Office of Production Management, and J. Harvie Wilkinson Jr., vice president of the Planters Bank and Trust company, Richmond, Va.

Brown Leads Attack on Plan.

Leading the criticism of the proposal, Brown asserted that a limit of 6 per cent on corporation profits would ruin the credit thousands of enterprises and would be felt most severely by small enterprises with limited capital means.

"Altho Morgenthau hasn't told in detail how the scheme would be applied," Brown said, "it is obvious that any such ceiling would have drastic consequences.

"It fails to make allowance for the fact that few corporations over a period of years exceed a return of 6 per cent on invested capital. The reason that corporations are able to keep going is that they make up in good years the losses that they incur in bad years."

Brown said that the only way in which a drastic limitation on profits could be successfully applied would be extend government regulation to all business in the same manner in which public utilities are regulated.

Explains Utility Control.

"We limit the profits of public utilities," Brown asserted, "but we also limit the competition. We give them a monopoly in return for they are subject to limitations on earnings."

The Morgenthau plan, he added, gives a tremendous advantage to the

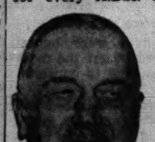
3,000 AT BANKER RECEPTION TO OPEN CONVENTION

Three thousand persons—delegates and their wives and friends—crowded the Grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel yesterday afternoon to attend the reception that informally opened the annual convention of the American Bankers association. The crowd was estimated to have consumed more than 4,000 chocolate cookies, a corresponding number of jelly sandwiches and an undetermined amount of punch. Tea and coffee were also served.

On hand yesterday, as he has been for every A.B.A. convention within the memory of most delegates, was A. P. Giannini, chairman and founder of the Bank of America, huge west coast banking chain. Besides chain banking, of which he was an early and successful promoter, Giannini is famed for his early friendship for the Roosevelt administration and for his more recent enmity for it and in particular for Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau. Giannini blamed Morgenthau for inspiring the SEC probe of the affairs of Transamerica corporation, his big holding company.



A. P. Giannini.

Giannini also believes that Morgenthau was responsible in part for blocking the election last year of a Bank of America man to the post of second vice president of the association which would have led ultimately to succession to the presidency. No Giannini official has ever reached the presidency altho many have served in responsible jobs. Explanation: most A.B.A. members are unit bankers, operating their businesses from a single establishment. They have long fought any move that would serve to advance the chain banking movement.

P. D. Houston, president of the Bankers' association, said yesterday that the convention opens in the midst of "one of the nation's greatest crises." The conversion of the nation's economy from a peacetime basis to one of national rearmament must be accomplished, he asserted, "with the least harm to the people." No. 1 problem for the bankers, in Houston's opinion, is to see that the financing of the rearmament program is carried out without inflation.

Assails Davis as Partisan of Closed Shop

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28 (AP).—Senator Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] asserted today that Chairman William H. Davis of the defense mediation board was aiding a drive by John L. Lewis for a nation-wide closed shop system which would make Lewis "the labor dictator of the nation."

William H. Davis.

In a 2,500 word statement Bridges said that Davis was giving aid to the closed shop program of the president of the United Mine Workers, one of the top affiliates of CIO, "possibly under a mistaken impression that he is performing a patriotic service."

Very Determined Man.

"Employers who have appeared before the chairman," Bridges added, "report that he has told them in private conferences that they should agree to practically any terms, such as the closed shop, that Mr. Lewis proposes, as only thru such acquiescence can Mr. Lewis be prevented from calling strikes and stopping defense work.

"When it has been suggested to Chairman Davis that he try to induce Mr. Lewis to yield on some of his demands, Mr. Davis, I am informed, has replied that such appeals would be futile, as Mr. Lewis is a very determined man who will not compromise."

Bridges contended that Davis "and other promoters of the closed shop also have been striving desperately to create the impression that congress, in passing the Wagner [labor relations] act, gave approval to the closed shop." The senator insisted that "there can be no doubt that congress never intended to approve the closed shop."

Sees Threat of Dictator.

"Despite the efforts of Mr. Lewis to take advantage of the country's crying need for help in its defense program and set himself up as the labor dictator of the nation," the senator said, "and despite the earnest efforts of Chairman Davis to help Mr. Lewis achieve his selfish ends, I cannot believe President Roosevelt is going to permit this outrageous thing to happen.

"Of what avail is it to us if while we are busy defeating a Hitler, another dictator, a Lewis or any other labor boss who refuses us the right to work unless we pay him tribute, assumes control of our destines."

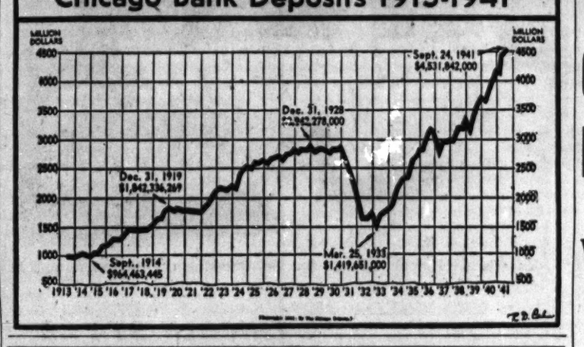
ENGLAND'S U. S. SECURITIES SALES EXCEED REPORTS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28 (AP).—The treasury revised its official figures today to show that the British have sold about twice as many American securities since the war began than formerly indicated.

The new compilation showed that in 1939, 1940, and the first half of 1941 the British sold $523,118,000 of American securities. Previous reports for the same period showed $249,005,000. The treasury declined to explain the discrepancy.

The British were reputed to own more than a billion dollars of American securities at the war's beginning.

Chicago Bank Deposits 1913-1941



Outlying Banks Report Gains in Deposit and Loan Accounts

More money is on deposit in Chicago outlying banks than ever before in the history of the city, their latest statements disclose. These financial institutions in outlying or close to the loop business districts have shared with the larger downtown banks in the growing demands from business and industry for bank loans and extensions of credit.

All except eight of the 54 national and state banks in Chicago reported gains in their loans and discounts, 14 banks reported their deposits were smaller. An indication that the money is being put into checking accounts and is being turned over rapidly may be found in the fact that 32 of the institutions reported declines in their savings account deposits since June 30.

Some Cash Resources Smaller.

Altho total deposits of the city's banks climbed from June 30 and aggregate resources of all banks were larger, 26 of the banks reported smaller cash resources. Twenty of the institutions reduced their holdings of government paper.

Total deposits of the Drovers National rose to $41,613,000 on Sept. 24 from $36,206,000 on June 30. Loans and discounts of this bank declined slightly during the period, however, to $5,418,000 from $5,568,000 at the last call.

The Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank listed total deposits at $15,573,000 compared with $15,286,000 on June 30. Loans and discounts expanded to $6,576,000 from $6,050,000.

Mercantile National Gains.

Deposits of the Mercantile National bank were lifted to $21,757,000 in the latest report. On June 30 it reported deposits of $20,727,000. Loans and discounts also were larger, totaling $6,957,000 against $6,241,000.

Loans and discounts of the National Boulevard bank rose to $4,607,000 from $4,275,000 on June 30. Deposits moved up to $21,395,000 from $20,753,000 at the end of the second quarter.

Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank—one of the loop banks—deposits increased to $10,722,000 from $10,600,000. Its loans and discounts rose to $3,003,000 from $2,799,000.

Mid-City National bank reported its deposits had reached $15,259,000 compared with $14,347,000 on June 30. It had an expansion in loans and discounts to $4,861,000 from $4,519,000.

Cosmopolitan Has Increase.

Cosmopolitan National bank depositors increased their funds in that bank to $4,652,000 from $4,396,000 at midyear. Loans and discounts advanced to $1,623,000 from $1,615,000.

A growth in loans and discounts during the last three months was reported by the Sears-Community State bank, these funds expanding to $9,000,000 from $8,635,000. The bank's deposits increased from $14,092,000 to $15,074,000.

Live Stock National deposits rose to $30,423,000 from $28,184,000 at the midyear call. Loans and discounts were $6,256,000 against $5,791,000.

BANK LOAN RATIOS.

The total of loans and investments of all member banks of the federal reserve system as of June 30 was 78.1 per cent of the net funds available for loans and investments, an analysis by M. A. Schapiro & Co., New York, disclosed yesterday. This is an increase of five points over the figure of a year ago. The following table gives the ratios for various groups of banks:

	All banks.	New York.	Chicago.
Dec. 31, '41	74.6	78.4	78.2
June 29, '41	73.1	73.4	73.0

TAX BILL PASSING WITHOUT RECORD VOTE IS ASSAILED

Passage of the new federal tax bill by congress without a record vote was inconsistent with a representative form of government, the Illinois Chamber of Commerce charged yesterday in a report to its members on the measure.

C. G. Ferris, executive vice president, said, "No matter how meritorious or otherwise a bill may be, the constituents of the members of congress are entitled to know how they vote on vital issues; otherwise the voters have no means of appraising the value of their representatives."

Ferris asserted that perhaps the most "reprehensible" feature in the tax increase was that the administration imposed it on the people without making any effort to reduce unnecessary government expenses.

WARN NEW DEAL OF DISASTER IN PRICE JUGGLING

Wage Control Urged to Halt Inflation.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—A study of prices, wages and profits, made public today by the Brookings institution, warns that a "vicious spiral of rising costs" threatens disaster for large segments of the population. The peril of inflation is attributed primarily to the agriculture and labor policies of the Roosevelt administration.

Dr. H. G. Moulton made price study.

The report of the Brookings institution also warns that the administration's price control bill, now pending in congress, does not reach the heart of the present inflation process, the control of which is impossible unless the administration is willing to restrict increases in wages and agricultural prices.

A New Deal Dilemma.

The price control bill provides for no limitation whatever on wages, and it would prohibit the establishment of maximum farm prices at any point below 110 per cent of so-called "parity" prices. "Parity" is a New Deal political shibboleth, designating a theoretical price that would give the farmer a purchasing power in terms of nonagricultural products equivalent to the 1909-1914 base level.

Altho warned by Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of Woodrow Wilson's industrial mobilization board in the World war, and other authorities that inflation cannot be halted so long as wages and farm prices are boosted artificially, the administration has not dared to risk antagonizing the politically powerful farm and labor groups.

The report mentions government purchasing of farm products for the lend-lease program as an increasingly important factor in the establishment of artificial farm prices.

Study Made by Moulton.

The Brookings institution study was made by Dr. Harold G. Moulton, its president, and Dr. Meyer Jacobstein, under a grant from the Falk Foundation of Pittsburgh. The study was conducted with the aid of the bureau of labor statistics and other government departments.

"The 21 per cent rise in wholesale prices since 1939 is primarily attributable to the great rise in the prices of farm products and to increasing labor costs," the report states. "The prices of agricultural products as a whole show a rise of 45 per cent; prices of all raw materials, including

Steel Outlook for Non-Arms Makers Reported Improved

Cleveland, O., Sept. 28 (AP).—A number of factors give promise of a better situation for nonarmament users of steel, the magazine Steel said today.

"Curtailment of automobile production will lift part of the burden on flat rolled steel, army cantonment and industrial armament building are well along, and various other pressing phases of the defense program are nearing or passing their peaks," the review said. "With these facts in view it seems likely present steel capacity will reach a point of supplying war needs, with a margin of civilian requirements remaining."

Output was steady last week.

USE OF SCRAP HEAVY.

Steel mills and foundries are using a million gross tons of scrap more per month than a year ago in making new steel and castings, the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, Washington, D. C., announced yesterday. Monthly average consumption of scrap has averaged 4,433,000 gross tons in the first eight months of 1941.

DAY by DAY on the FARM.

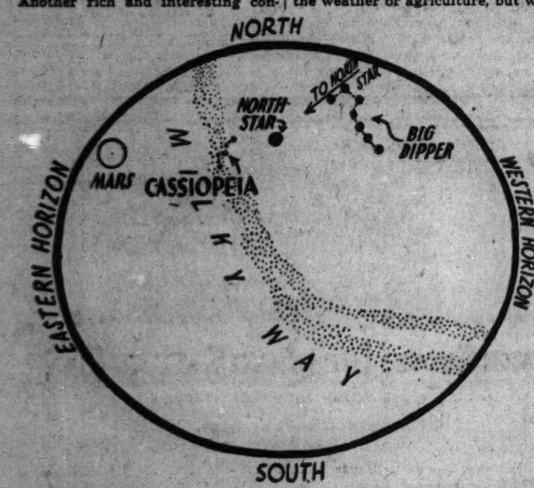
Farmers Study Stars

Sept. 28, 1941.

WHEN the northern lights lit the midwestern sky with hundreds of ever-changing "star curtains," they gave the farm residents an urge to study some of the common constellations, their relationship to agriculture, and other intriguing data. In the first of their nightly sessions of star gazing they learned how to find the Big Dipper and trace its pointers to the North star and then find the six other members of the Little Dipper.

Another rich and interesting constellation which is seen easily at this time of the year is Cassiopeia [kas-i-o-pe-ya]. This group [containing not fewer than 100 stars] can be a help to the amateur astronomer in finding the North star because one of the stars in the Cassiopeia group points toward Polaris.

To find Cassiopeia in the sky, first locate the star in the big dipper which is at the junction of the handle and the bowl. Then follow an imaginary line to the North star.



Approximate location of Cassiopeia. To orient properly face south and hold this map almost directly overhead.

Serves as Timepiece.

Continue this imaginary line thru the North star to a group of five stars in "M" formation about the same distance from the North star as the Big Dipper, but in the opposite direction. This group, like the Big Dipper, never sets. They are always opposite each other about equally distant from the pole.

At certain times of the year Cassiopeia forms a "W" with its five stars, but as the season progresses into mid-autumn the "W" appears inverted and resembles the letter "M" almost overhead. At this time of the year in early evening the sprawling "M" is on its side.

Cassiopeia was recognized as early as 3500 B. C. and not only is it famous in Greek mythology but it also has a utilitarian value for any one with a knack for mathematics. With a little practice it is possible to determine the time of night within 15 minutes perfection by observing the changes in the position of the sprawling "M" in the sky with reference to the North star.

Subject of Myths.

"Did the northern lights have any connection with the cool weather which came just a few days later?" This question was asked by one of the men on the Du Page county farm last week.

There is no scientific evidence that the aurora borealis had any effect on the weather or agriculture, but whenever such natural phenomena appear there are many who believe the weather will change. There also are many age-old farm myths about the moon and its effect on planting, harvesting, and the care of farm stock. This subject will be discussed tomorrow in this space.

WARN NEW DEAL OF DISASTER IN PRICE JUGGLING

minerals, increased 33 per cent; prices of manufactured goods rose 17 per cent, while retail prices, as measured by the cost of living index, show a rise of 7 per cent.

Holding the administration's policies largely responsible for increases in wages and farm prices, the report states that the inflation process can be halted only by "the adoption of policies directed at the primary sources of price disturbance."

"The most important single step that might be taken in arresting the general rise of prices would be to reduce somewhat the prices of important agricultural products," the report continues. "This could readily be done by releasing to the market a portion of the crops now stored in government warehouses.

Urges Control of Wages.

"The second essential step, if further price advances are to be checked, is to control wage rates. So long as wage rates remain uncontroled, the most that can be expected in the control of the prices of industrial products generally is to restrain somewhat the rate of price advance."

The report states that "in the absence of the government's agricultural program, agricultural prices would not have shown any extensive general rise." It points out that exports have been much smaller than in normal times and the total, including lend-lease shipments, will amount to only 8 to 10 per cent of our total production.

Discuss Price Policy.

The report discusses the government's three-fold policy of boosting farm prices as follows:

"The first is acreage restriction or quotas for a few major staples. This method has been no more effective than in the recent past.

"The second method—thus far perhaps the most important—is the recent stepping up of the commodity loan program. The farmer is now enabled to borrow up to 85 per cent of the parity price. This price thus becomes in effect a guaranteed minimum. Since the government withholds these crops from the market in warehouses the result is to reduce the effective supply and thereby raise the market price not only to, but generally even beyond, the guaranteed minimum. With this government support and stimulus the situation naturally promotes speculation for the rise.

Could Check Advance.

"If the government were in due course to offer these warehoused surpluses for sale in the market, the rise would be checked or even turned into a decline. But the government may withhold its accumulated stocks for a long period of time.

"The third method is by the outright purchase in the market of numerous products. This is done in part under the food stamp plan but now more largely under the program of lease-lend purchases and the accumulation of stock-piles of food and clothing materials for the relief of Europe after the close of the war."

Among other government policies cited by the report as factors in the increase of wages are the eight hour day and 40 hour week, with time and a half for overtime, provisions of government contracts which encourage higher wages, and the decisions of the National Defense Mediation board.

ILLINOIS' CORN QUOTA FOR 1942 LITTLE CHANGED

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 28 (AP).—Illinois' 1942 corn crop allotment is 6,568,395 acres, about the same as this year's, Lee M. Gentry, state AAA chairman, announced today.

The "normal yield" was announced as 44.3 bushels an acre, an increase of almost 5 per cent over the 1941 figure. The "normal yield," rather than the actual yield, is employed in determining AAA payments to farmers who plant within their allotments.

In advising farmers to so plant, Gentry said:

"It's particularly necessary for farmers to restrict acreage of surplus crops in a year when the agricultural machine should be running at top efficiency to produce goods for which there is a greater need."

Lincoln Changes Design for 1942

Here is the Lincoln-Zephyr for 1942 showing the marked change in the styling.

LINCOLN STYLE SHIFTS SHOWN IN CARS OF '42 LINE

Hoods Rounded, New Drive Installed.

Showing marked changes in styling, the 1942 Lincolns were on display yesterday in dealer display rooms thruout the city. The most drastic change is in the front end, a rounded hood replacing the sharp lines of the predecessor models.

A mechanical feature is the new liquamatic drive in which are combined a liquid flywheel, a new automatic transmission and an overdrive unit to reduce gear shifting to a minimum. For normal driving the operator need not shift gears at al. The engine has been stepped up to 130 horsepower. Materials needed in the armament program are conserved in the 12 cylinder engine by use of cast iron instead of aluminum cylinder heads.

Numerous refinements are found in the new cars. Door handles have been eliminated. Push button latch controls are used on doors and luggage compartments. Springs are longer and softer. The Lincoln line offers eight body types for 1942—four for Lincoln-Zephyr and two each for Lincoln-Continental and Lincoln-Custom.

FAIR SHOWS HOW FRANCE REBUILDS ON SUBSTITUTES

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LYONS, France, Sept. 28.—More than 100,000 persons today visited the 25th Lyons international trade fair and saw evidence of the strides France has taken toward economic recovery in the 15 months following the Franco-German armistice.

The fair, which covers 10 acres in a park along the Rhone river, was formally opened by Chief of State Henri Philippe Petain and Vice Premier Jean Darlan.

Its striking features are the many substitutes that have been produced to replace raw materials and products now lacking, and the stress put on the revival of mechanical skill and the production of handmade articles.

Engines Need No Gasoline.

France lacks wool, cotton, silk, rubber, leather, lead, zinc, copper, and gasoline, and industrial organization committees have had to seek substitutes.

The fair's exhibits show that unexpected results have been obtained, particularly in textiles and in automobiles and other machines which have been adapted to use charcoal gas and acetylene as substitutes for gasoline. A large assortment of cars, tractors, trucks, cranes and agricultural machines equipped to burn charcoal gas attracted much attention and gave evidence that charcoal gas and development of hydroelectric power are being relied on to solve France's transport problem.

Textiles, Too, Are Replaced.

Lyons has long been France's textile center. The crowds inspected textile substitutes and fabrics which have been obtained from rayon and another substance called fibranne.

Fibranne has been mixed with cotton to produce heavier fabrics for men's suits.

Softer fabrics from rayon have been made into sweaters, socks, gloves, and pajamas.

Substitute canvas tissue is produced for the manufacture of tires, rope, and string and for other industrial uses.

An imitation Astrakan fur coat was made from synthetic materials.

Devices Save Soap and Heat.

Among the exhibits were household devices designed to get the most out of soap and heat and to conserve by-products.

Food products also illustrated the search for substitutes, such as grape syrup for sugar and substitute vegetable oils.

The fair has 2,500 exhibitors of goods from the French empire and seven foreign countries are represented. They are Germany, Rumania, Sweden, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal, and Argentina.

Lyons is more animated than it has been since the outbreak of the war and is overcrowded. All tables are booked nightly at the most fashionable restaurant and cafés and theaters are crowded.

People and Events

The 36th annual meeting of the American Life convention will be held in the Edgewater Beach hotel Oct. 8 to 9. More than 800 representatives from all parts of the country are expected to attend.

The Western Society of Engineers and the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will hold a joint meeting tomorrow in the Western society's auditorium at 205 West Wacker drive. F. H. Lane, president of the Western Society of Engineers, will be in charge of the meeting.

John F. Watts, vice president of Binks Manufacturing company, Chicago, will address the sixth annual forum of the Porcelain Enamel institute at the University of Ohio Oct. 8 to 10.

ENGLISH BANK'S CIRCULATION AT NEW HIGH MARK

LONDON, Sept. 28.—With a further rise of £1,650,000 [about $6,600,000], the bank of England's circulation has reached a new high record of £671,400,000 [about $2,685,600,000] and the movement is continuing against the usual seasonal trend.

Large additions to pay rolls, coupled with holiday spending and higher prices are factors in the rising demand for currency.

PROFITS LIMITED TO RUIN MANY, BANKERS TOLD

Morgenthau's Proposal Is Roundly Criticized.

large corporate organizations, such as the railroads, which have large amounts capital invested in equipment.

Burgess said that the small enterprise with $1,000 of capital on which to operate could not continue in business if his profits were arbitrarily limited to 6 per cent.

Inflation possibilities were subject to the scrutiny of the forum speakers. They agreed that a larger share of the increased consumer income should be siphoned back into the treasury by higher taxes. Burgess and others spoke in favor of the proposal, already under consideration, to increase existing social security taxes.

View on Compulsory Saving.

Burgess also said that some type of compulsory saving may be necessary if it is learned that the sale of defense bonds is not soaking up enough the increased consumer purchasing power that has been created by the billions of rearmament spending.

Burgess referred to the British forced savings plan, saying that it has been applied only on a limited scale.

Plans to enlist the aid of banks in the effort to distribute armament production among small manufacturers were announced by Nash. Bankers were urged to coöperate with local manufacturers in the formation of prime or subcontracting groups which may participate in contracts. He mentioned recent modifications in procedure whereby contracts may be negotiated at prices up to 15 per cent above current quotations where industries or communities have been unsettled by priority demands.

Nash said the contract distribution division planned to discuss requests from prime or subcontractors with the contractors' local banks.

Sessions Start Today.

The convention sessions get under way this morning. The gathering will be the largest convention of the association in nearly a decade.

It is the first meeting of the association in Chicago since 1933, the year of the bank moratorium, and early registrations forecast an attendance that would exceed that of any meeting in recent years. Nearly 2,000 delegates had registered by last evening and this total is expected to grow to more than 5,000. Chicago's ideal location as a convention city and its ability to handle large crowds with ease are primarily responsible for this year's large attendance. Recent conventions have been held either on the east or west coasts and the number attending has seldom been more than 4,000.

The bankers will devote five days to study and discussion of economic problems, the program giving chief emphasis to questions of armament production, financing, and related matters.

Among the principal speakers who will appear before the convention are Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau and Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. Both will speak at the concluding session Thursday.

The only discordant note heard among the assembling delegates yesterday came from the bankers who believe that the program is loaded too heavily with speakers who support the administration's interventionist foreign policy wholeheartedly. Besides Morgenthau and Connally, two administration stalwarts, the speakers include Douglas Miller, author of "You Can't Do Business with Hitler." Not one of the general speakers on the convention program is regarded as critical of the administration's foreign policy. The complaints came mainly from the bankers from the middle western states where opposition to the administration policy is the strongest.

Four Divisional Meetings.

Today the convention will divide into four divisional meetings—state bank, national bank, savings, and trust sections. The state division will observe the 25th anniversary of its formation. Harry A. Bryant, president of the Parsons Commercial bank, Parsons, Kas., and president of the state division, will speak.

Andrew Pirie, president of the national bank division and president of the National Bank of Commerce of Seattle, Wash.; Dr. Lionel D. Edie, economist, and Fred L. O'Hair, president of the Central National bank of Greencastle, Ind., will speak at the national division meeting.

The savings division will be addressed by its president, Roy R. Marquardt, vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago, and Dr. Marcus Nadler, professor of finance at New York university.

The trust division will be addressed by W. W. Hinshaw Jr., president of the Corporate Fiduciaries Association of Chicago. President of the trust division is Carl W. Fenninger, vice president of the Provident Trust company, Philadelphia.

Bankers Beginning to Meet

Prominent bankers in preconvention gatherings yesterday included (left to right): W. A. Mitchell of J. P. Morgan & Co., John T. Rohr, Toledo Trust company; J. Carlton Hill, Fifth Third Union Trust Company of Cincinnati, and Mortimer J. Gleeson, J. P. Morgan & Co.

AMERICAN COLORTYPE.

How has American Colortype company fared as to earnings and dividends since its exchange of stock in 1936? Were there losses prior to that?—L. C. S.

Answer: Operations were profitable from 1935 thru 1940, the latest figures reported. There were losses from 1931 thru 1934. Net income rose in 1938, 1939, and 1940. The results for years ended Dec. 31 follow:

	Net income	Per com. share.
1940	$336,731	$1.91
1939	305,315	1.71
1938	197,144	1.02
1937	267,771	1.47
1936	198,167	1.03

Dividend arrears on the old 7 per cent preferred stock were cleared in 1936 thru the issuance of new 5 per cent preferred. All the 7 per cent stock was retired. Regular cash payments of $5 a year have been made on the new preferred. No disbursement has been announced so far this year. The full dividend last year was paid in December. A payment of 25 cents was made on the common in 1940, the first since par value was changed from no par to $10 in 1932. Four 15 cent dividends have been declared in 1941, the latest payable Dec. 15.

At the end of last year there were 156,886 shares of common and 7,443 shares of preferred outstanding. American Colortype, organized in New Jersey in 1902, is engaged almost entirely in color printing and lithography. The company reported orders booked for the first six months this year at $4,962,683, compared with $4,273,320 in the same 1940 period.

TAYLORCRAFT STOCK.

In the Investors' Guide column of last June 27 it was stated that stock of the Taylorcraft Aviation corporation, Alliance, O., is not publicly held. An official of the company writes that both the common and preferred shares are quoted in the over the counter market.

GRUEN DIVIDEND.

I noticed that an initial dividend of 31¼ cents is payable Oct. 1 on Gruen Watch company 5 per cent preferred. Is this a new stock?—C. N. E.

Answer: This stock was issued last June. One share of new preferred and one-half share of common were exchanged for each share of class C preferred outstanding. The 31¼ cents is the quarterly rate.

MATERIALS USED IN MAKING PAINT COLORS SCARCER

Serious Shortages Are Believed Likely.

A "very serious" shortage of raw materials needed in the manufacture of dry colors [the pigments mixed with oils in making all paints] is developing as a result of the rearmament program, Ernest T. Trigg, president of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer association, reported yesterday.

Production of chrome yellows and chrome greens may be seriously affected by shortages of mineral acids, which seem imminent, and by heavy demands by other industries for lead, Twigg reported. A lead priority ruling may be imposed soon, he asserted. Consumption of tungsten by dry colors manufacturers already has been reduced 10 per cent for the year ended June 30, 1942, by government order.

"In the organic field," the report continues, "shortages are developing that were not originally anticipated, and it is becoming increasingly obvious that as the defense program gets into high gear the shortages of many raw materials will seriously affect the production of dry colors."

Among other materials in which the situation was reported as critical are titanium, dehydrated castor oil, resins, ethyl alcohol and certain related compounds, nitrocellulose, and aluminum powder and paste. Prices have risen sharply on many of these materials.

German Coffee Planters in Guatemala Blacklisted

Guatemala City, Guatemala, Sept. 28.—German coffee planters here will have a difficult time selling crops because of the restrictions of the recently extended United States blacklist and the coffee export quota. All coffee for export must be covered by a certificate of origin before permission is granted for shipment. This also will control attempts by Germans to make independent shipments as steamship lines are not permitted to load coffee belonging to German planters.

SALESMEN FEEL EFFECT OF VAST PRIORITIES SHIFT

Some Lose Lucrative Jobs and Others Benefit.

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

One of the less obvious ways in which the government's priority control over raw materials is changing the pattern of American economic life was disclosed yesterday by employment agencies in close touch with salesmen.

Men who in the past have had the pick of highly paid sales jobs because of technical engineering training suddenly have found themselves out of favor, and new types of men are emerging from certain professions to reap the benefits of a shift in industry's needs, the agencies reported.

In demand at present to fill highly specialized sales positions are accounting executives, corporation controlers, school executives who are sales minded, and teachers or academically trained men familiar with social problems, it was said.

Right Kind of "Convincer."

Manufacturers and distributors of specialized machinery for speeding up accounting and record keeping work, as well as makers of other office equipment, are asking employment agencies for accounting executives and controlers. These men are considered the type that can best convince busy companies that installation of new machines can eliminate record keeping bottlenecks said to exist in many plants swamped with armament orders.

The agencies said that businesses dealing with schools and colleges are demanding persons trained in such social problems as are studied in high schools.

But meantime, it was said, many sales engineers and industrial salesmen skilled in the engineering fields are losing their jobs. The reason is that their companies either cannot get materials to make their usual products or have shifted to armament work.

Steel Staffs Maintained.

Some companies, particularly steel makers, are retaining their salesmen as a means of keeping contact with customers, even tho no sales effort is needed, but others are reducing sales staffs.

There is one bright sign, tho, for jobless salesmen, according to George J. Hones, head of the Hones employment agency, and H. Marvin Castle, general manager of the Wabash agency. Both said they expect industries generally, particularly manufacturers of consumer goods, to start hiring more salesmen after the first of next year.

Hones predicted that the government will get priority problems ironed out in the next 90 days. Federal officials will find, he said, that they can get everything they need for the arms program and still ease up on priority pressures. He attributed much of the priority hardships to the newness of the priority organization. He said the army and navy have earmarked more raw materials than they need at present.

Government "Biggest Hoarder."

"The government, which is acting to end hoarding of materials by industry, is itself the biggest hoarder in the world," Hones said.

Castle based his prediction of more sales jobs on what he said were signs that corporations "are waking up to the necessity of doing missionary work among their customers, even if priorities prevent them from supplying the usual amount of civilian goods now."

Castle predicted increased use of advertising as well as of salesmen, particularly by companies supplying food lines, department store goods, gadgets, and appliances.

"The customer may forget what brand to ask for unless the manufacturer remainds him," Castle said.

George A. Cook, an official of the Cadillac employment agency, reported a demand for salesmen not only with accounting and office system experience, but for teachers trained in such fields as visual education.

Cook said "several hundred" sales engineers and industrial salesmen have been made jobless in the Chicago area alone by the impact of the armament program on the companies in which they formerly held highly paid positions.

FAMILIES ROUTED BY ARMS TO GET NEW FARM UNITS

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 28 [Special].—Families displaced from defense areas may move into 18,000 acres of land in the state being bought by the Indiana Defense Relocating corporation. The purchased acreage, now housing 52 farm families, will be broken into smaller plots of 60 to 100 acres, to accommodate 221 families.

E. H. Shideler, vice president of the relocation corporation and state rural rehabilitation director for the federal Farm Security administration, said today checks soon will be written for $1,476,000 to pay for the acreage acquired, mostly holdings of insurance companies. This purchase, Shideler said, is exhausting the corporation's FSA loan. Unless another allocation is made, options on 2,800 more acres will be dropped, he said.

The agency is purchasing 7,403 acres in Benton county, 5,495 in Knox, 2,505 in Warren, 1,100 in Fountain, and 894 in Tippecanoe county. Each of the new farm units will have its own set of buildings. New structures will be built by the relocation corporation, Shideler said.

★ Small ★ BUSINESS MAN'S Department

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published and commented upon.

WELDING EQUIPMENT.

What must our company do to get a priority rating for certain materials which we need to make arc welding equipment? Most of our machines are used in plants which make army or navy material.

Answer: Your company should apply to the priorities division of the Office of Production Management, Washington, D. C., for preference rating order P-39 which assigns the high rating of A-1-c to certain materials employed in manufacturing arc welding and resistance welding equipment used in armament making.

The materials on which the preference rating may be applied are forgings, castings, sheets, bars, rods, plates, and wire; insulation materials; motors and other electrical accessories; gasoline and Diesel engines and accessories; machine parts and accessories; brass, copper, steel tubing and fittings, and maintenance and shop supplies.

Upon receiving the preference rating order, the manufacturer of welding equipment signs an acceptance and files it with the priorities division. He then sends a copy of this order to each of his suppliers with whom he has placed a purchase order for necessary materials.

Once this is done, he need furnish his suppliers with no additional copies to apply the priority rating on future purchases. The suppliers in turn follow the same process in applying the rating to deliveries of materials needed to fill the welding manufacturer's orders.

CRITICAL AREAS.

What are the defense housing critical areas in Illinois?

Answer: The critical areas in Illinois as designated by the defense housing rating plane are Alton, Chicago-Waukegan, Davenport-Rock Island, Joliet-Wilmington, Rantoul, Rockford, and Savanna.

LUMBER AND BRICKS.

Can you tell me whether lumber, bricks, cement, and plaster are subject to priorities under the defense housing plan?

Answer: Lumber, bricks, cement, and plaster are not in the defense housing critical list [as now constituted]. Priorities assistance is given on materials difficult to obtain to expedite the construction of homes for armament workers.

MOTOR TRUCKING OFF IN AUGUST; ABOVE YEAR AGO

New York, Sept. 28 [Special].—Altho the volume of revenue freight transported by motor truck last month decreased 0.4 per cent compared with July, the movement was 28.1 per cent more than in August, 1940, the American Trucking association reported today.

The seasonal recession in the movement of new automobiles was principally responsible for the slight decline in August compared with July.

The 218 motor carriers in 39 states that are members of the American Trucking association reported that they transported 1,720,262 tons in August, compared with 1,727,708 in July and 1,342,709 in August, 1940.
